The Honorable Robert Chapman,

WHO SETTLED AT SAY-BROOK IN 1635,

This Work is affectionately Dedicated by

THE AUTHOR.

PREFACE.

IT is now about seven years, since, at the solicitation of LEBBEUS CHAPMAN, Esq., of Brooklyn, N. Y., and GEORGE H. CHAPMAN, Esq., of Say-Brook, Conn., the compiler of this work commenced his labors.

At the time he entered upon the task, he had no conception of the amount of labor which would be required in collecting and arranging a Genealogical Table of the Descendants of ROBERT CHAPMAN, our common ancestor. Nor was it supposed, when the offer was generously made by one of his descendants, to print and distribute a copy of the work gratis, to all the living descendants, that it would be anything more than a pamphlet of forty or fifty pages, at the most. It was soon found, however, that the descendants were so numerous and scattered throughout all the states of the Union, that a much longer time would be required to obtain returns from them, at all satisfactory, than was at first contemplated. The task has been a laborious one, consuming not less than one-third of the author's waking hours for seven years, accompanied with no small pecuniary expense, in traveling from place to place to examine records, and in postage, stationery, etc. About thirteen hundred letters have been written, more than one hundred burial grounds visited, and the records of more than forty towns thoroughly searched, and not a less number of probate, church and parish records examined. The oldest and largest libraries of New England have also been consulted, to gather up whatever could be obtained of historical interest in regard to the CHAPMAN FAMILY in the Old World and the New. The expense of a work of this sort can never be estimated by any but those who have been engaged in similar labors. A full pecuniary compensation can not be expected, as the sale of the work must be comparatively limited.

The compiler assures his numerous relatives, to whom he introduces himself in these pages, that he has spared no care or pains to make a perfect record. Perfection, however, in such a work can not be expected. No small perplexity has often been experienced, in deciphering old records and inscriptions, and in reading some of the letters received from aged persons, and others unaccustomed to writing. Often, too, the statements in regard to ages, dates of births, marriages and deaths of different branches of a family, have conflicted with each other. In some instances, no dates can be found, in which case we have attempted only an approximation to accuracy.

It is exceedingly difficult to avoid mistakes in printing a work containing so many figures, even when the copy is complete. Several errors escaped the notice of both the proof-reader and compiler, which are corrected at the end of the volume. While some who have been addressed have promptly replied and rendered all the aid in their power in transmitting records and collecting facts, others have neglected for weeks and months, and even years, the answers they might have given at once, and many have never answered at all.

It is to be regretted that a few families have been so separated from their relatives that no trace of them and their descendants has been found. Still, with few exceptions, we think it will be found that a full and accurate record is given. There are, of course, many of the younger generation now on the stage, who have been born during the seven years that have transpired since the preparation of the work commenced, whose names are not included.

The special thanks of the compiler are due to several persons who have kindly aided him in his researches.

TO ISAAC CHAPMAN, Esq., of East Haddam, who although now an octogenarian, has manifested a deep interest in this work, from the beginning, and rendered essential service in tracing the descendants of ROBERT CHAPMAN, the third, who settled at East Haddam among the first proprietors of the town.

To SYLVESTER JUDD, Esq., of Northampton, Mass., the great genealogist of the Connecticut valley, for hints as to the best sources of information in regard to the early life and history of our ancestor.

To Rev. JOHN A. MURRAY, for valuable information, in regard to the Rev. JEDEDIAH CHAPMAN, who settled at Orangedale, New Jersey, in 1766, and his numerous and distinguished descendants, widely scattered throughout the states of the south and west. Also, to Miss CAROLINE VALERIA REYNOLDS, a grand-daughter of the same Rev. JEDEDIAH CHAPMAN, for the interesting incidents transmitted, in relation to his history at the time of that eventful struggle which terminated in our country's independence, he being located in that part of the country which, more than any other, was the great battle-field of the American Revolution. Also, to Rev. ROBERT H. CHAPMAN, of Taladega, Alabama, for a memoir of his father, Rev. ROBERT HETT CHAPMAN, D. D.

To WHEELER CHAPMAN, of Fearing, Ohio, for his prompt and continued aid in collecting a list of the numerous descendants of LEVI CHAPMAN, who descended from ROBERT CHAPMAN, in the line of his eldest son JOHN, and who removed to the vicinity of Marietta, Ohio, with his family of twelve children, in the year 1794.

To Rev. TIMOTHY M. COOLEY, D. D., for an interesting account of ISAAC CHAPMAN, the father of Mrs. CONTENT COOLEY, and a brief outline of his own life and public services.

To Rev. DAVID D. FIELD, D. D., now of Stockbridge, Mass., for assistance in tracing the descendants of TIMOTHY CHAPMAN, of Haddam.

To Mr. PAUL L. TAYLOR, of Westport, and Dr. SAMUEL NOYES, of New Canaan, Conn., for their kind assistance in collecting the names of the descendants of Rev. DANIEL

CHAPMAN, son of Deac. NATHANAEL CHAPMAN, the youngest son of ROBERT, and who settled at Green's Farms, Conn., in 1715. Also, to the Rev. JOSEPH CHAPMAN, of the Methodist Episcopal Church of East Groveland, New York, for his aid in collecting the names of descendants in the same line, in the state of New York.

TO GEORGE H. CHAPMAN, Esq., of Saybrook, for assistance in tracing the descendants of Deac. NATHANAEL CHAPMAN through the line of the Rev. DANIEL CHAPMAN and of ELISHA CHAPMAN, and for the deep interest he has manifested in this work from the beginning, and but for whose substantial aid and encouragement, it is much to be doubted whether the work would ever have been published.

TO Mr. NATHANIEL GOODWIN, of Hartford, for useful hints in regard to the general plan of the work.

Also, to GEORGE M. CHAPMAN, Esq., of Brooklyn, N. Y., and to WILLIAM P. CHAPMAN, of New York city, for the general interest they have manifested; and to the numerous town clerks and clerks of probate, who have allowed the compiler free access to their records.

NOTE. It is the particular request of the compiler, that where mistakes are discovered in the genealogical record of individuals or families, a correction may be promptly forwarded to him, that it may be entered in a preserved copy, and serve to render a future edition more complete; and also, that births, marriages and deaths which occur hereafter, may be sent, and thus the record be continued for the benefit of succeeding generations.

INTRODUCTION.

OUTLINE HISTORY OF SAY-BROOK.

As Robert Chapman was one of the first settlers of Say-Brook, some notice seems to be demanded, in a work like this, of the causes which led to the settlement.

The settlement of New England resulted from religious tyranny. Under the reign of the Tudors and the Stuarts, many left their native land to enjoy civil and religious freedom, in the, then, solitudes and wilds of America. Required, in their own country, to conform to rites and ceremonies, in their view, inconsistent with the true worship of God, they resolved to forego all the privileges and endearments of home, that they might serve their Maker in a manner conformable to the dictates of their own consciences. They came not, to this country, to accumulate property, to acquire renown, or live in ease and splendor. Their motives and aims were vastly higher, viz., to obey God and prepare themselves for heaven.

With these aims and motives, and with firm trust in God; with fortitude and cheerfulness they encountered the perils of the ocean, and the toils and sufferings incident to landing upon an inhospitable coast, and subduing the wilderness, in the presence of a severe climate and cruel savages. In the year 1620, a band of these adventurers landed on Plymouth Rock, and, in 1629, a company arrived under Mr. John Endicott, and settled Salem and Charlestown. The year following, several other towns were settled, in Massachusetts. In 1633, Rev. Thomas Hooker, of Chelmsford in the county of Essex in England, taking with him Mr. Samuel Stone, a lecturer at Torcestershire, in Northamptonshire, for an assistant in the ministry, came to Boston, in the Griffin, a ship of about 300 tons. With him came over the famous John Cotton, Mr. John Haynes, afterward governor of Connecticut, Mr. Goff, and two hundred other passengers of importance to the colony. They arrived on the 4th of September, 1633. Mr. Hooker and a part of this company proceeded to Newtown, now Cambridge, where they were received, cordially, by others that had located themselves there, a short time before. Mr. Hooker was chosen their pastor, and Mr. Stone their teacher. On the 11th of October, the church was gathered, and after solemn fasting and prayer, the pastor and teacher were ordained to their respective offices. The church at Watertown had been gathered on the 27th of August, 1630, and Mr. Philips ordained their pastor. Mr. Warham, with his church and congregation, came over about the same time. The church was organized previous to their leaving England, and Mr. Warham chosen pastor, and Mr. Maverick their teacher, and they settled at Dorchester.

In June, 1635, Mr. Hooker and his congregation came across the wilderness and settled Hartford, Mr. Warham and his people settled Windsor, Mr. Philips and his congregation settled at Wethersfield, according to the prevailing opinion, the year previous. The above towns, then, included Glastenbury, East Hartford, and East Windsor.

The inhabitants of these towns soon agreed upon a constitution of civil government for themselves, and such as should afterward be joined to them. This was the beginning of the government of Connecticut. About the time of the settlement of these towns, a fort was erected at Say-Brook, under Governor John Winthrop, and a settlement commenced there. The town originally included Killingworth, Chester, West-Brook and most of the town of Lyme, and was a distinct government from Connecticut, until 1644.

About two years previous to the settlement of the towns on the river, John Oldham from Dorchester and three men with him, had traveled across the wilderness to Connecticut, to view the country and trade with the Indians. The same year the Dutch entered the river and established a fort, at Hartford, and William Holmes from Plymouth, within whose jurisdiction Connecticut was regarded as belonging, sailed up the river, in defiance of their remonstrances, and erected a house at Windsor. This led to a contest between the Dutch and English, which finally resulted in the former abandoning the river.

A fort, at the mouth of the river, was deemed important, as a matter of safety, to the towns on the river, and to protect the company from future aggressions.

On the 8th of October, 1635, Mr. John Winthrop, son of Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts, arrived at Boston, with a commission from Lord Say and Seal, Lord Brook and other noblemen and gentlemen, interested in the Connecticut Patent, to erect the intended fortification. Their lordships sent over men, ordnance, ammunition and 2,000 pounds sterling, for the accomplishment of their design. In August previous, twenty men arrived in Massachusetts, sent over by Sir Richard Saltonstall, to take possession of a large quantity of land in Connecticut, and to make settlements under the patent of Lord Say and Seal, with whom he was a principal associate.

These twenty men under the direction of Winthrop, late in the winter of 1635-6, or very early in the succeeding spring, repaired to the mouth of the river and erected the fort.* They were, soon after, reinforced by John Underhill and nineteen men, who were sent to their assistance, to prevent their being overpowered by the Indians.

Great were the hardships, and numerous the privations, of these early settlers at Say-Brook.

About the beginning of October, the enemy, concealing themselves in the high grass, in the meadows, surprised five of the garrison at Say-Brook as they were carrying home their hay. One of them by the name of Butterfield, was taken and tortured to death. The rest of them made their escape and entered the fort, one of them having had five arrows shot into him. It was this circumstance that gave it the name of Butterfield's Meadow, which it still retains.

But a few days after the above occurrence, one Joseph Tilly, a master of a small vessel, was captured by the Indians, when proceeding down the river. He anchored two or three miles above the fort, and, taking a canoe and one man with him, went a fowling. Immediately, on discharging his piece, a large number of Pequots arising from their concealment, took him, and killed his companion. Tilly, being a man of uncommon strength and energy, determined to show himself superior to the tortures, they might inflict upon him. They treated him in the most barbarous manner, first cutting off his hands and then his feet, and so, gradually, torturing him to death. But he died without a struggle or a groan. The enemy kept up a constant watch upon the river, and the settlers at Say-Brook. A house had been erected about two miles from the fort and six of the garrison were sent to keep it. As three of them were fowling, at a small distance from the house, they were suddenly attacked by nearly an hundred of the Pequots, and two of them were taken. The other cut his way through them, sword in hand, and made his escape, wounded with two arrows.

Before winter, the garrison were so pressed by the enemy, that they were obliged to keep, almost wholly, within the reach of their guns.

The Pequots destroyed all the out-houses, burnt the stacks of hay, and ravaged everything, which was not within command of the fort. The cattle belonging to the garrison were killed or wounded. Some of them came home, with the arrows of the enemy sticking in them. The fort was but little better than in a state of siege, during the whole winter. The enemy so encompassed it about, and watched all the motions of the garrison, that it was dangerous, at any time, to go out of the reach of the cannon.

As spring arrived, they became still more mischievous and troublesome. They kept such a constant watch upon the river that men could not pass up and down, with any safety, without a strong guard. They waylaid the roads and fields, and kept Connecticut in a state of constant fear and alarm. In March, Lieut. Gardiner, who commanded the fort at Say-Brook, going out with ten or twelve men to burn the marshes, was waylaid by a narrow neck of land, and as soon as he had passed the narrow part of the neck, the enemy rose upon him and killed three of his men. The rest made their escape to their fort; but one of them was mortally wounded, so that he died the next day. Gardiner himself received a slight wound. The enemy pursued them, in great numbers, to the very fort, and encompassed it on all sides. They challenged the English to come out and fight, and mocked them in the groans, pious invocations and dying language of their friends. The cannon loaded with grape-shot, were fired upon them, and they were dispersed.*

Some time after this, the Indians, in a number of canoes, beset a shallop, which was going down the river, with three men on board. The men fought bravely, but were overpowered with numbers. The enemy shot one through the head with an arrow, and he fell overboard; the other two were taken, tortured, cut and mangled in the most shocking manner, and hung up, by the neck, upon the river's bank, that, as the English passed by, they might behold the miserable objects of their vengeance.

So great was the annoyance of the Indians to the whites, particularly upon the river, that the Court met in February, 1637, to take efficient measures for subduing them. Capt. Mason was soon dispatched with twenty men to reinforce the garrison, and to keep the enemy at a greater distance. After his arrival at the fort, the Indians made no farther attacks upon it, but appeared very much to withdraw from that quarter.

* See Appendix, note A.

Soon after this, Underhill, who had been appointed in the preceding fall to keep garrison at Say-Brook, was sent from Massachusetts with twenty men, to reinforce the garrison. On their arrival, Capt. Mason and his men returned, immediately, to Hartford.

A special court was summoned, at Hartford, on the 1st of May, to devise means for the defense of Connecticut from the common enemy. They voted the raising of ninety men, forthwith, in Hartford, Wethersfield and Windsor. These were furnished with the necessary supplies, and with Mason for their commander, fell down the river in a pinnace and a shallop for Say-Brook, on the 10th of the same month. The company consisted of ninety Englishmen, and about seventy Mohegan and river Indians, commanded by Uncas their sachem. The troops arrived at Say-Brook on the 15th. The Mohegans, at their urgent request, were set on shore before they arrived at Say-Brook. They fell in with about forty Pequots on their march, and killed seven and took one prisoner. They put him to death in a most barbarous manner; he having before been received kindly at the fort, and in a most perfidious manner betrayed the English, and been the cause of most of the attacks and murders that had already occurred. On the 19th of May, Mason proceeded, with his company by water, to Narraganset, and formed, with the Indians there, a junction for the purpose of avenging the murder of their countrymen by the Pequots. He marched with his company, consisting of seventy-seven Englishmen, sixty Mohegans, and 200 Narragansets, for Mystic, the head-quarters of the enemy. He was joined by others on the march, until his entire force amounted to about 500 men.

Arriving at Mystic in the following night, they surprised the Pequots in their fort. So sudden was the attack, and so unprepared were they for defense, that at morn, the entire garrison were cut to pieces, the fort burned to the ground, and five or six hundred Indians perished by the sword or in the flames.*

So completely was the power of the enemy broken, by this disaster, that they never after rallied, in sufficient force, to offer any serious annoyance to the settlers upon the river. The conquest of the Pequots struck all the Indians, in New England, with terror, and they were seized with such fear of the displeasure and arms of the English, that they had no open war with them for forty years. There was a general rejoicing throughout the colonies. A day of thanksgiving was appointed, and all the churches of New England sent up their songs of praise to him, who had given them the victory, and the prospect of future peace and prosperity.

* See Winthrop's Journal and Trumbull's Connecticut.

As Robert Chapman was one of the band of adventurers, who established the fort at Say-Brook, and was a sharer in the events which have been narrated, it was deemed proper to introduce the previous account of the early settlement of the town where he resided until his decease, a period of more than fifty years.

At this distance of time, the descendants of those early settlers, scattered up and down in the land, and now numbering not less probably than 100,000, in the enjoyment of all the blessings conferred by science and the arts, by civil and religious freedom, can not, fully, realize what they suffered, nor how great is their indebtedness for the legacy conferred upon them.

They were men of undaunted courage, indomitable resolution, firm religious principle, and most of them possessing, for their time, superior mental cultivation, men from whom none of their descendants need blush to have derived their origin.

“ Just men they were,
And all their study bent,
To worship God aright and know his works,
Not hid, nor those things least which might preserve
Freedom and peace to man.”

HISTORY OF THE CHAPMAN FAMILY.

The name Chapman is of Saxon origin. A large class of surnames among the Anglo-Saxons, is derived from *trades, or occupations.

The Saxon word †Ceapman, means a Chapman, marketman, a monger or merchant.

* Cambden's Remains, page 104. † Dictionary of the Saxon language.

The surname Chapman occurs among the earliest of English surnames, and the family, in many of its branches, was somewhat ~~well~~ distinguished at an early period. Not a few of them still occupy prominent stations in the British Empire. In the year 1298, John Chapman was returned to Parliament as Burgess for Chippenham. *In 1307, Peter Chapman was returned Burgess for Derby. In 1309, John Chapman returned for Surrey. In 1307, Robert Chapman returned for Preston, and in 1311 for Steyning, and in 1321, for Taunton, and in 1322 for Taunton, to the Parliament at York. In 1311, Philip Chapman, returned for Taunton, and William Chapman for Bridgewater. In 1313, John Chapman, returned for Chippenham. In 1315, for Warwick, and in 1325 for Hereford. In 1324, Geoffrey Chapman returned for Cambridge. In 1315, William Chapman returned for Downton, and in 1325, for Seaford. In 1326, John Chapman was appointed, by Parliament, to attend the array and muster of the Hundred of Loose, in the county of Suffolk, on Thursday, the 24th of April, after the Feast of St. George. At the same time and place, Robert Chapman, of the township of Framlingham, was also appointed to attend the array and muster.

†Peter Chapman, ironmonger, gave £60 to the eight prisons in and about London.

‡A letter appears from Simon Archbishop of Canterbury, to John Chapman, one of his clergy in 1430, and to William Chapman of London, in 1438.

In 1534, Thomas Chapman takes the oath of fidelity, on his induction to the chair of sacred theology. In 1553, George Chapman was appointed to a rectory in London, and in the same year Thomas Chapman, "ad Rectoriam de Merston cicestren." Sir John Chapman was High Sheriff of Sussex and Surrey in 1634. A special commission was issued concerning the suppression of schism, in London, in 1599, Henry Chapman being at that time alderman. §Sir John Chapman, knight, of Tower street, was elected alderman in 1679, and served in the office of high sheriff, the same year. In 1689, he was chosen lord mayor and died a few days before the expiration of his term. He was the son and heir of Sir William Chapman, Bart. ||In 1619, Alexander Chapman, S. T. P., became

He was a native of the county of Norfolk, and was chaplain to the princess Elizabeth, consort of the prince Frederick, elector palatine, and became archdeacon of Stowe, in Lincolnshire, and a prebendary of that church. He died Sept. 6th, 1629, aged fifty-two, and was buried in this cathedral, where there is a monument with his bust on it in white marble, erected to his memory, and this inscription.

“Alexandro Chapman, Norfolcienci, Sacræ Theologiæ Doctori, in Academia Cantebriensi Serenissimæ Elisabethæ Frederici Electoris Palatini consorti a Sacellis Dominae suæ clementissimæ Archdeacano de Stowe in comitatu Lincolnensi et metropolitæ hujus Ecclesiæ Prebendario, viro Multiplici Linguarum, ut et Literarum Scientia instructissimo, concionatori mire Flexanimo dumq: per vires licuit et validudinem non sedulo, minus quam solido: Pietate Erga Deum, charitate erga proximum et morum suavitate, erga omnes eximio, charissimo. The following lines occur in English under the latter inscription.

“ This soul too rich a prize for mortal race,
 Endued with nature and the gifts of grace,
 Once viewed this world, and, then in much disdain,
 Left this void earth and now in glory reigns.”

George Chapman, a distinguished poet, flourished in the seventeenth century. After receiving a university education, he settled in London, where the great luminaries of the time, Shakespeare, Jonson, Sidney, Spenser and Daniel, became his familiar friends. He expected preferment from the patronage of the Walsinghams, and of Somerset and Prince Henry, but all his hopes ended in disappointment. Besides seventeen dramatic pieces, one of which was the famous mask called the Temple, he translated Homer's Iliad and Odyssey, and attempted Hesiod and Musæus. Pope, who has borrowed much from him without acknowledgment, calls him an enthusiast in poetry, but the remark is invidious, as Chapman possessed respectable poetical powers, and was a man of some genius. He died 1634, aged seventy-seven.* His monument may be seen in the parish of St. Giles.

John Chapman, D. D., a learned divine, flourished in the eighteenth century. He was educated at Eton and at King's College, Cambridge, for the provostship of which he was an unsuccessful candidate. He obtained the livings of Mersham and Adlington, Kent, from Archbishop Potter, to whom he was chaplain, and at the death of this prelate, as his executor, he presented himself as one of the primate's options, to the precentorship of Lincoln; an appointment which was confirmed by Chancellor Henley, but set aside by the House of Lords. He died 14th of October, 1784, in his eightieth year. His writings were, Remarks on Dr. Middleton's letter to Waterland—Eusebius, two vols. 8vo., in which he defended Christianity against Morgan and Tindal—History of Ancient Hebrews vindicated—two tracts relating to Phlegon in answer to Dr. Skye's briefs, sermons and other things, and a joint edition of Cicero De Officiis with Bishop Pearce.†

In a time of great scarcity in England, of breadstuffs, occasioned by excessive rains and inundations in the seventeenth year of the reign of Henry VI., a special commission was given by the king to Robert Chapman, merchant of the city of York, recommending him

There are known to be, at the present time, in England, not less than twenty clergymen of the established church, of the name of Chapman.

It is a singular fact, that while the name of Chapman occurs in the records referred to, for several centuries back, in different shires and counties of England; the Christian name of Robert has been found only in Yorkshire. It occurs, frequently, as a prevailing family name in that shire, which goes very far to confirm the family tradition, that Robert Chapman, who came to Boston in 1635, and to Say-Brook, the succeeding spring, came from Hull, in Yorkshire.

There are not less than sixteen different families or branches of the great Chapman family, designated by their respective coats of arms.

Those of Cambridgeshire and Yorkshire and London, are in the main alike, a crescent,—the crest being a dexter arm embowed, habited in mail, holding in the hand a broken tilting spear enfiled with a chaplet, of laurel, as appears in the engraving; with the motto "Crescit sub pondere virtus;" Virtue increases under affliction. (See engraving at the head of the genealogy.)

The following account of the Chapman family, taken from Burke's Peerage, supplementary volume, 1848, p. 65, is inserted here, as the name of Robert occurs often, and there is little room to doubt, that it is the family with which our common ancestor was connected, although we are not able to give the name of his father. As a stigma attached to those who left their country, under the banner of Puritanism, the same care was not taken to retain their names in family registers, as was the case with those who continued residents until their death. Those who left were soon forgotten, and hence the extreme difficulty of tracing any connection between the early settlers of our country and their ancestors, in the father-land, especially, if those who left their ancestral home, had not been in any way distinguished, before leaving. The majority of the Puritan settlers were, like our ancestor, in the morning of life, and consequently had enjoyed no opportunity to fill stations of importance, where they could perform public acts which would be matter of record.

"CHAPMAN OF WHITBY STRAND.

"Chapman, Thomas, of Whitby, county York, F. R. S. & F. S. A., born June 21st, 1798, married 24th of March, 1825, Maria Louisa, youngest daughter of John Hanson, Esq., of the Rookery of Woodford and of Great Brownley Hall, Co. Essex, and has an only daughter, Ethel Maria. Mr. Chapman is a magistrate for the county of Middlesex.

LINEAGE.

The Chapman family, says Young in his history of Whitby, resided at Whitby and in Yburndale, prior to the year 1400, as appears from the registers and rolls of Whitby Abbey.

The late Sir Thomas Chapman, and Admiral Chapman of Sweden belonged to the family. This family, (we quote an old family manuscript,) was settled, at or near Whitby, in the time of Henry III.,* as appears by ancient records, and in the time of Richard II. some of them were prosecuted and imprisoned, by the abbot of Whitby, for maintaining their just rights and privileges, but were soon set at liberty, by the abbot, without paying any fees. They increased much in a century or two, and many of them were in the parliamentary army.

Roger Chapman and John Chapman were of Yburn near Whitby in the county of York, in 1381, from† one of whom descended Robert Chapman, temp. of Henry VIII., who died Dec. 2d, 1607, and was father of John Chapman, born 24th of Elizabeth, 1570, and died 31st of March, 1614; whose son Robert, baptized Nov. 19th, 1603, married Mary Acklowe and by her, who died 24th of March, 1667-8, had issue as follows.

I. John, d. s. p. II. James, d. s. p. III. Robert, 2d April, 1638, married Hannah Hardwicke, and had two sons and two daughters, 1 James, d. s. p., 2d John, married Elizabeth Wayman, and had issue, (1) Amy, married 1st to Giles Parker, and 2d to John Hill. (2) Mary, married to Francis Gill.

IV. Ingram, baptized March 22d, 1639-40, who, by Jane his wife, had three sons and two daughters. The elder of the daughters, Esther, married Robert Bromley, whose eldest son Adam, had an only daughter, Dorothy, married to Henry Arkew, Esq., of Redheagh, Co. Durham.

V. William, of whom presently, 1 Mary, married to Henry Barker, 2d Margaret, married first to John Carlil and second to John Elldin, 3d Jane, married to John Hill. The above Mr. William Chapman, died Nov. 1st, 1685.

The name occurs in several of the early settlements of New England, and also in Maryland and Virginia. We have, John Chapman in New Haven, in a list of planters in 1643, whose estate was placed in the list, at £300, and who is believed to have died without male heirs.

Edward Chapman had a grant of land in Ipswich, Mass., in 1644.

William Chapman appears on the records of New London, in 1657.

* His reign commenced 1216.

† Is it improbable that Robert of Saybrook descended from the other, especially as Robert of Saybrook called his oldest son John, and his second Robert?

Edward Chapman who married Elizabeth Fox of England, appears on the records of Windsor, in 1660.

John Chapman was admitted a resident or townsman, in Boston, in 1634.

Jacob Chapman, March 28th, 1642.

Richard Chapman appears in Braintree, in 1647; was killed by the Indians. He had daughters, Susan, Hope and Mary.

Deacon Samuel Chapman was a proprietor, in Westfield, in 1660.

Isaac Chapman is in the list of settlers of Barnstable, Mass., between 1660 and 1670.

Symon Chapman was made free, in Boston, 1675.

Among the passengers, "embarqued in the Primrose for Virginia, July 27, 1635, Cap^{tn} Douglas, per certificate under ye ministers hand of Gravesend, being examined, by him, touching their conformity to the church discipline of England," occurs the name of Henry Chapman, aged nineteen.

In a similar list among the passengers of the Elizabeth, August 1, 1635, occurs the name Richard Chapman, aged eighteen.

At Marshfield, Mass., in 1643, in a list of those able to bear arms, we have Ralph Chapman.

Among passengers for Virginia, in the Globe of London, Aug. 7, 1635, Thomas Chapman, aged twenty-six.

Among passengers for Virginia, July, 1635, in the Alice, Walter Chapman, aged forty-four.

A Robert Chapman was living at Oyster River, in Dover, New Hampshire, in 1663.

We have, here, fourteen men of the name of Chapman, besides our ancestor, among the early settlers, between whom no near relationship has been discovered. It would have been impossible to trace the descendants of Robert of Say-Brook, and have kept them distinct from the descendants of the other stocks, had not the first three generations been recorded on the Say-Brook records.

Being himself town-clerk for many years, his marriage and the births of his children, and of most of his grand-children, are recorded, in his own hand.

It has been gratifying to the compiler to find, that with few exceptions, the descendants of Robert Chapman have been men of industrious habits. While they have contributed their full proportion to the agricultural, mechanical and commercial wealth of the land, a goodly number of them have been men of cultivated minds—who have honored the learned professions.

Eighteen of the name have graduated at Yale College, four at Cambridge, eight at the other New England colleges, five at Princeton, two at Union, one at Hamilton, and several in the younger institutions at the south and west.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE CHARACTER, LIFE AND PUBLIC SERVICES OF ROBERT CHAPMAN, THE FIRST SETTLER.

Most persons take peculiar satisfaction in being able to trace their lineage to remote ancestors; in learning where they lived, and through what scenes of prosperity and adversity they passed, and in recounting the benefits which they conferred upon their posterity. Nothing, definite, is known of Robert Chapman, previous to his emigration to this country. According to the family tradition, he came from Hull in England to Boston, in 1635, from which place he sailed in company with Lyon Gardiner, for Say-Brook, Nov. 3, as one of the company of twenty men, who were sent over by Sir Richard Saltonstall, to take possession of a large tract of land, and make settlements, near the mouth of the Connecticut River, under the patent of Lord Say and Seal as already stated. He is supposed to have been about eighteen years of age.

After the Indians were subdued, deeming it safe to form plantations at a distance from the fort, they proceeded to clear up the forests and form a permanent settlement. For about ten years after leaving England, according to a tradition in the family, he kept a journal. It is to be regretted that, about twelve years after the establishment of the fort, it was burned, and the records of those who occupied it were lost. He was one of the particular friends of Col. George Fenwick. That he was a man of influence, in the town of Say-Brook, is evident from the fact, that, for many years, he held the office of town-clerk, and clerk of the Oyster River quarter, and filled many other important stations. He was for many years commissioner for Say-Brook, and was elected as their deputy to the General Court, forty-three times, and assistant nine times. He was, therefore, a member of the legislature of the state at more sessions than any other man, from the settlement of Say-Brook, to the present time.

The following list will show the number of times and dates of the sessions he attended.

He was deputy to the General Court, which set at Hartford, according to the colony records—

The colony records also show that each of his three sons were representatives to the legislature: the eldest, twenty-two sessions; the second one, eighteen sessions; the third, twenty-four sessions.

Robert Chapman seems to have been a soldier. Lieut. Col. Gardiner, in his "History of the Pequot War," speaks of him as a sentinel in a skirmish on the neck, Feb. 22d, 1637, with the Indians, and once as engaged in beating samp.†

It appears, from the records of Say-Brook, that Robert Chapman,

* It will be understood, by the reader, that the government of Connecticut consisted of a Governor, Lieut. Governor, and deputies from the several towns which constituted the lower house, and assistants or magistrates, which constituted the upper house.

† See Appendix, note A.

was a very large landholder, in the towns of Say-Brook and East Haddam. He also owned a very large tract of land, in Hebron, leaving at his decease, to each of his three sons, fifteen hundred acres in that town, which he received as one of the legatees of Uncas and his sons.*

"A will of Attawanhood, third son of Uncas, is signed March 10th, 1676, in Lyme, near Eight Mile Island, in Connecticut River. He gave to his sons a large tract of land, apparently north-west of Say-Brook, with the condition that if one died it should go to the survivor, and if both died, to their sister. He also left them forty acres, at Podunk, and about half a mile square within a tract which had, a little previously, been added to Hartford. These lands, if his three sons died, were to revert to his wives. The rest of his property was given away, in enormous tracts, to various white persons of Hartford, Say-Brook and other places. Whole townships, as for instance those of Windham, Mansfield and Canterbury, were included. A single grant covered an 100,000 acres, and the whole line of lands reached eighteen miles north and south, and, in some places, east and west. The Indians, who then resided on his territories, he directed to leave them, and attach themselves to his father, Uncas. His sons, he desired to live near Say-Brook, to be taught English by their mother, and, at the end of four years, to be placed at an English school. Thirty-five pounds, which were owing to him by certain whites, as well as the rents of all the lands which he had left the boys, were to be expended, in their support and education. He recommended his children, earnestly to all his legatees, but more particularly to three, whom he mentioned by name, Robert Chapman, William Pratt and Thomas Buckingham. For himself, he directed that he should be buried at Say-Brook in a coffin, and after the manner of the English."†

Robert settled himself, on a tract of land, in Oyster River, about two miles west of Say-Brook fort, which has descended in the line of the youngest son of each family, never having been bought or sold, and is now occupied by George H. Chapman, Esq., who is the youngest of the fifth generation.‡

He was a man of exemplary piety, and, but a short time previous to his decease, he wrote an address to his children, who were all members of the church; in which, it is said, he exhorted them to a devoted life and to abide by the covenant, into which they had entered, with God and his church. That document was in the hands of one of his descendants, now on the stage, but it is to be regretted that being lent a few years since, to a person out of the family, it was never returned, and, we fear, is irrecoverably lost.

There is some doubt as to the town, in England, where Robert was born. Some suppose it was Hull, the place where he embarked. Others suppose that although he embarked from Hull, which was one of the shipping ports, he was a native of Kent. It is the full belief (for reasons already stated) of the compiler of this work, that he was a native of Yorkshire, and that his father's name was either John or Robert, and most likely the latter.

Robert's parents were Puritans. His mother, according to a tradition in the family, was particularly anxious to emigrate to this country, which his father opposed. She induced "Robin" first, and afterward his three sisters, to embark for the wilds of America, in the hope that, when they were established in the new world, their father would consent to accompany her across the Atlantic and join them. There is no reason to suppose that she ever realized her hopes. Of the sisters of Robert, (according to an ancient document in the possession of the Bushnell family, in Say-Brook,) one married William Bushnell, the brother of Deacon Francis Bushnell; another married a gentleman who removed, with her, to the West Indies; and the third died unmarried.

The children of Robert's sister by Lieut. William Bushnell were:

1. Joshua,	born	May 6, 1644.
2. Samuel,	"	Sept. 15, 1645.

I have not been able to ascertain whom the other children of Lieut. Wm. Bushnell married.

That he was a man of some note, in Say-Brook, is evident from the fact, that he held several important offices of trust, in the town, and was their representative, for several sessions, to the General Court, and was appointed by that body, Lieutenant of the Train-band.

The records of the General Court show in what estimation Robert Chapman was held by that honorable body.

The following extracts will not fail to interest his numerous descendants.

At a session of the General Court, at Hartford, Oct. 3d, 1654, an order was passed to fit out an expedition against the Narraganset Indians. The following entry is found upon the journal.

"The Committee, chosen by this Courte to press men and necessaries, in each Towne, for this expedityon, in each Towne till it bee ended, is as followeth." [Here follow the names of the committee for each town.] "For Seabrooke, John Clarke & Robert Chapman, with the Maior" [Major Mason.]*

DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT CHAPMAN.

FIRST GENERATION.

ROBERT CHAPMAN, the first settler, who came from Hull, in England, to Boston, in August, 1635, and in the month of November, to Say-Brook, married Ann Blith,* April 29th, 1642. According to the family tradition, he was born in the year 1616. He died October 13th, 1687. Mrs. Ann Chapman's death transpired Nov. 20th, 1685.

SECOND GENERATION.

The children of the above named Robert and Ann Chapman.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN CHAPMAN, THE ELDEST SON OF ROBERT CHAPMAN, THE FIRST SETTLER.

THIRD GENERATION.

I.

JOHN CHAPMAN, the eldest son of Robert Chapman, of Say-Brook, married Elizabeth Hawley, sister of Joseph Hawley, of Stratford, June 7, 1670, by whom he had three children. She died May 10th, 1676. Mr. Chapman married for his second wife Elizabeth Beament, (Beman,) the daughter of William Beament, of Say-Brook, by whom he had ten children. Of these eight were born in Say-Brook, and two in East Haddam. The title of captain is given him in the town and church records of East Haddam, and also in the records of the secretary of state. That he was a man of considerable note in the town of Say-Brook, and at East Haddam, after his removal, is evident from the fact that he represented the former town in the General Court, at fourteen sessions, and the latter at eight sessions.

At the session of the General Court which convened May 10th, 1694, the following act was passed: "This Court grants liberty to Capt. John Chapman to set up a ferry over the Great River in Haddam for the future;" hence the name Chapman's Ferry. The probate records of Hartford, and the town records of East Haddam and of Hebron, show that he owned large tracts of land in each of said towns. He died, as is supposed, in the spring of 1712. His estate was settled by the court of probate, at Hartford, April 8th, 1712.

His second wife, Elizabeth Chapman, died October 30th, 1694.

JOSEPH CHAPMAN, the son of John Chapman, born July, 1673, married a lady whose Christian name was Sarah, but whose family name I have not been able to ascertain. He resided in the town of Say-Brook. The following curious deed from him to the Rev. Azariah Mather, of Say-Brook, is found on the records, viz., "I, Joseph Chapman, for and in consideration of the love, good will and affection which I have and bear, and continue to bear toward my loving friend, the Rev. Mr. Azariah Mather, do give, grant and confirm unto him the said Azariah Mather, his heirs and assigns forever, one 50 pound right in the corn-pasture," &c.

Previous to his decease, he made a will, appointing his sons, Jonathan and Simeon Chapman, his executors. His death transpired in 1732, and on the 21st of November of said year his will was exhibited and approved. His property he bequeathed to his "loving wife Sarah and his children, Jonathan, Simeon, Levi and Ruth, having given his eldest son Joseph his portion during his lifetime." The time of Mrs. Chapman's death is not found on record.

SAMUEL CHAPMAN, son of John Chapman, was born at East Haddam, in the year 1692. He resided, after he became of age, in the town of Say-Brook, within the limits of Chester parish. He married at Say-Brook. The Christian name of his wife was Mary. The name of her family is not known. Mr. Chapman, as appears from deeds of land on the Say-Brook records, removed to Salisbury, about the year 1740, and afterward he resided in Stonington, as appears in a deed of land to Joshua Bushnell, dated July 11, 1745. He soon after returned to Say-Brook, where he died in the month of July, 1747. After his decease his wife was appointed administratrix of his estate by the court of probate, which sat at Guilford, Sept. 9, 1747. She exhibited an inventory of his estate to the court, Oct. 9, 1747, amounting to £230, 18s. 6d. After the discharge of the debts due from the estate, the use of the remainder was granted to the widow during her natural life, and as no children are mentioned in the settlement of the estate, it is presumed Mr. Chapman died without issue. The time of Mrs. Chapman's decease is not known.

FIFTH GENERATION.

JOSEPH CHAPMAN, Jun., the son of Joseph Chapman, and grandson of John Chapman, was born March 2, 1701. He was married to a lady whose Christian name was Eunice, but whose family name has not been ascertained. The time of his marriage is not known. Administration was granted to his wife by the court of probate. She exhibited an inventory to the court in February, 1726, amounting to £361, 18s. 11d., and the estate was divided accordingly between her and her only child Sarah, then a minor. Mr. Chapman died, as is supposed, in the latter part of the year 1725.

* At the session of the Legislature, in May, 1776, he was appointed Major of Militia, and at the session in the fall, Colonel. The following notice, taken from Green's Gazette of September 18, 1776, shows the regard of the ladies of East Haddam for their townsman, while absent on military duty, and is a handsome tribute to their patriotism and physical energy. "Several of the most respectable ladies of East Haddam, about thirty in number, met at Colonel Jabez Chapman's barn, and husked, in four or five hours, about two hundred and forty bushels of corn. A noble example, so necessary in this bleeding country, while their fathers and brothers were fighting the battles of the nation."—Hinman's Rev. War.

ISAAC CHAPMAN, son of Levi Chapman, born May 9, 1747, married Ruth Robinson about the year 1773, and resided at Granville, Mass. The following brief notice of him has been furnished by the Rev. Dr. Cooley, who married his only surviving daughter. "Isaac Chapman died in the army, at the age of twenty-eight. He married Ruth Robinson when in her seventeenth year. His first-born child, Ruth, died at two years of age. His second was born April 12, 1776, and he gave her the name Content, as expressive of his Christian resignation under his recent and distressing bereavement. In October, 1776, from conscientious scruples of duty, he enlisted a volunteer in my father's company, marched to Ticonderoga, and in six weeks fell a victim to the camp fever. He was buried near Lake Champlain, with all the decencies and sympathies of a camp funeral. He was a man of decided piety. Ruth Chapman, the widow of Isaac, married Col. Jacob Bates, an officer in the Revolutionary army, and father of the late Hon. Isaac Chapman Bates, United States Senator from Mass. He crossed the Delaware with Washington, on Christmas eve, for the attack on Princeton."

NOTE.—Here ends the list of John Chapman's descendants, the oldest son of Robert Chapman the settler, as far as obtained. There are probably a large number of children of the ninth generation, who have been born during the six years which have transpired since this work was commenced, and whose names have not been returned.

Of these descendants there are 516.

Of those connected by marriage, and remoter descendants by the female branches, 206.

DESCENDANTS IN THE LINE OF ROBERT CHAPMAN, JR.,
THE SECOND SON OF ROBERT CHAPMAN
THE SETTLER.

THIRD GENERATION.

ROBERT CHAPMAN, Jr., the second son of the first settler, was born in the month of September, 1646, at Say-Brook, Conn., and was extensively engaged in agriculture. He owned at the time of his decease not less than 2,000 acres of land, in Say-Brook, East Haddam and Hebron, as appears from the probate records at New London. The town records, as well as the records of the secretary of state, abundantly show, that he was a man of extensive influence, in civil affairs. He was for many years, clerk of Oyster River Quarter, and commissioner and surveyor for the town of Say-Brook. But a short time after his father's decease, he was elected representative to the state legislature, which office he filled, at eighteen sessions. The following extract from the state records, will show the years of his attendance as a member of that honorable body, viz.

1. May	12, 1692.	7. October	12, 1693.	13. October	9, 1707.
2. June	22, 1692.	8. May	10, 1694.	14. October	12, 1710.
3. October	8, 1692.	9. May	11, 1704.	15. May	10, 1711.
4. February	7, 1693.	10. October	10, 1706.	16. June	19, 1711.
5. May	11, 1693.	11. April	2, 1707.	17. October	11, 1711.
6. September	1, 1693.	12. May	8, 1707.	18. November	2, 1711.

But his highest encomium is, that he "walked with God." He, early in life experienced a change of heart, and connected himself with the church, under the ministry of the Rev. Thomas Buckingham, the successor of Rev. James Fitch, who had, previously, removed with part of his church to Norwich, Conn. The estimation in which he was held by the church, is evinced by the fact, that they appointed him as their delegate to the assembly that formed the Say-Brook Platform in 1708; a work which, for nearly a century and a half, has served to preserve the purity and order of the Congregational churches of Connecticut. To have been a member of that body, is a higher honor than could have been conferred by any merely civil trust. Mr. Chapman was twice married: 1, to Sarah Griswold, (who was probably a daughter of Lieut. Francis Griswold,) of Norwich, July 27, 1671, by whom he had nine children. Mrs. Sarah Chapman died April 7, 1692. 2, to Mary Sheather, relict of Samuel Sheather, of Kenilworth, (Killingworth,) October 29, 1694. By her he had four children.

He died suddenly, in the court-room, at Hartford, soon after the opening of the November session in 1711.

His tombstone stands in the old burial-ground, in Hartford, in the rear of the Center church, about a rod north of the monument, on which are inscribed the names of the first settlers of Hartford; with this inscription. "Here lyeth the body of Robert Chapman, who departed this life November ye 10th, 1711, Aged 65 years." Several of his numerous children died in infancy. But four of them married and raised families, and yet his descendants number more than the aggregate of both his brothers, John and Nathaniel.

The date of Mrs. Mary Chapman's decease is not known. A large number of their descendants have been persons of standing and influence, in the learned professions, and eminent as members of the household of faith.

The following is a fac-simile of his signature.

REV. JEDEDIAH CHAPMAN, son of Robert Chapman fourth, born at East Haddam, September 27, 1741. Graduated at Yale College, in the class of 1762. He entered immediately upon the study of Theology. In a year and a half from that time, he was licensed to preach the gospel, and was ordained and installed pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Orangedale, N. J., in the year 1766. In the year 1800, he removed to Geneva, in the state of New York, as a stated missionary of the general assembly. He spent about twelve years from that date, in preaching in different places, and founding churches, in the infant settlements of western New York, and was installed senior pastor of the Presbyterian church at Geneva, July 8, 1812, and died about ten months after his installation. He was seized with his last illness, while in the pulpit, preaching from 2 Timothy 4 : 7, 8 ; " I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith : Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day ; and not to me only, but unto all them, also, that love his appearing." A fit termination of a laborious, exemplary and devoted life, in the cause of Christ. His mantle has fallen upon his descendants. His descendants are numerous in the Empire State, and in the western and southern states. An unusually large number of them have been, and are professional men, and bright and shining lights in the church of God. Mr. Chapman was twice married : 1, to Miss Blanche Smith. By her he had three children. Mrs. Blanche Chapman died in November, 1773, at Orangedale, N. J. The following is the inscription upon her monument.

" Here rests the body of Mrs. Blanche Chapman, the wife of the Rev. Jedediah Chapman, who died Nov., 1773, in the 29th year of her age.

" For thee in truth, though once so dear,
 Each common friend will drop a tear,
 But, what can ease, Oh ! what can heal

Pangs, which a tender husband feel;
 When thus, the young, his joy, the just,
 Consume and moulder into dust.
 These balsams faith, alone, can give
 Which tell us that the dead shall live,
 That death his conquest, shall restore,
 The just shall meet and part no more."

2, he married Miss Margaretta Le Conte, by whom he had three children. Mrs. Margaretta Chapman died September 9, 1812, at Geneva, N. Y. The following is the inscription on her monument.

"Mrs. Margaretta Chapman, daughter of Dr. Peter Le Conte, and wife of the Rev. Jedediah Chapman, born at Monmouth, N. J., died September 9th, 1812, in the 74th year of her age. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

Inscription on the Rev. Jedediah Chapman's tombstone at Geneva, N. Y.

"The Rev. Jedediah Chapman, born at East Haddam, Conn., ordained and installed at Orangedale, N. J., 1766; installed Senior Pastor of the Pres. Church of Geneva, July 8, 1812, died May 22, 1813, in the 73d year of his age. He removed to this village in 1800, as stated Missionary of the General Assembly, and, in that capacity, with a truly apostolic spirit, planted many of the churches, in the infant settlements of this country. He was a zealous advocate of the Christian religion, a faithful defender of the doctrines of grace, and exhibited the purity of the gospel in his life.

"He lived respected, he died lamented. 'Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, from henceforth, yea saith the Spirit, for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them.'"

During his college course, he was hopefully converted and admitted to the college church, by Dr. Dwight. His theological studies were prosecuted under the care of Dr. Charles Backus, of Somers, and he was licensed to preach the gospel, by the Tolland association, October 6, 1801. On the 28th of the same month he was ordained an evangelist, at Hebron. In November following, he was sent as a missionary to the Western Reserve, in Ohio, by the Connecticut Missionary Society, as a fellow-laborer with Rev. Joseph Badger, who was then in that section of country. In that work he continued until April, 1803, when he left the field. In 1804, he went to Ontario county, New York, where he preached the gospel over twenty years, viz.: in Charleston, (now Lima,) about eight years; in Bristol, six years; in Livonia, seven years, besides preaching in other places, in that region. In 1827, he removed to Madison county, and has resided at Oneida Lake, until this time. His labors in the different stages of his ministry, have been attended with very gratifying success, in the conversion of sinners to Christ. He has also published, "a work critical and explanatory, on important select passages of the New Testament, chiefly such as are attended with more or less difficulty to common readers," which work has passed through three editions, each successive edition having been revised and improved.

Mr. Chapman has been twice married: 1, to Palmyra Adams, of Bloomfield, N. Y., April 18, 1804, by whom he had five children. Mrs. Palmyra Chapman died at Livonia, N. Y., July 31, 1826. 2, to Tryphena Clark, of Lebanon, N. Y., by whom he has one child.

He had an extensive practice for ten years. In 1836, he was appointed to the office of Ruling Elder in the Presbyterian Church of Taledega. On the 18th of October, 1839, he was licensed to preach the gospel, by the Presbytery of South Alabama. He supplied the pulpit of the same church in which he had been ordained Ruling Elder, for a short period, when they gave him a call, and he was ordained and installed as their pastor. He remained the pastor of that church upward of five years, having realized a good degree of success in his work. At the close of the year 1844, he was called to the pastoral charge of the Presbyterian Church in Greensboro, Alabama. The call was accepted. Here he labored with success for five years. In January, 1850, he was compelled to resign his charge, and returned to Taladega, preaching occasionally in destitute places as health would permit. He was married at Ashville, North Carolina, on the 18th of October, 1831, to Clara E. Chunn, daughter of Samuel Chunn. They have had two children.

NOTE. Here ends the list of the descendants of Robert Chapman, Jr., the second son of Robert Chapman the settler, as far as obtained. There are probably a large number of children, born during the six years which have passed while this work was preparing, whose names have not been received.

Of these descendants there are 2,014.

Of those connected by marriage and remoter descendants of the female branches, 713.

Total, 2,727.

DESCENDANTS IN THE LINE OF HANNAH CHAPMAN,
THE FOURTH CHILD OF ROBERT CHAPMAN, THE SETTLER.

HANNAH CHAPMAN, daughter of Robert Chapman, the settler, born October 4, 1650, was married to David Bull, December 27, 1677, being twenty-seven years of age. She appears to have had no male heirs. Three daughters are found recorded in the town records of Say-Brook, one of whom died in infancy. The following indenture between John Chapman, the eldest brother of Hannah, and her husband, David Bull, is inserted as a curiosity :

“ This indenture made, the five and twentieth day of April, in the fourth year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord, James the Second, King of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith &c., between David Bull of Saybrook, in the county of New London, on the one part and John Chapman Esq. of Saybrook, on the other part, witnesseth, That as well for and in consideration of a marriage already had and solemnized, between the said David Bull, and Hannah, now wife of the said David Bull, and sister of the said John Chapman Esq. : as for the great good will love and affection which the said David hath and beareth to the said Hannah, his wife, and to the intent that the house and home lott of land and fruit trees, hereafter in these presents specified, shall come and continue in the issue of the said David and Hannah in such sort, manner and form as, hereafter, in these presents is expressed, mentioned and declared. It is covenanted, granted, condescended, concluded and fully agreed upon, by and between the said parties to these presents, in manner and form following ; and the said David Bull for the consideration, aforesaid, doth covenant grant and promise, for himself &c., to and with the said John Chapman Esq'r his &c. by these presents that the said David Bull, shall stand and be seized of that, his house and home lot, of land and fruit trees, and other appurtenances, therewith belonging, situate and lying and being in the Town Plat of Say-Brook, being bounded Eastward with the land of John Bull and bounded Southward and Westward and Northward with high way ; To the use and behoof of the said David Bull for the term of his natural life ; and, after his decease, to the use and behoof of the said Hannah Bull, for the term of her natural life ; and, after her decease to the use and behoof of the heirs of the body of the said David Bull on the body of the said Hannah lawfully begotten, and for default of such issue, to the right heirs of the said David Bull forever. In witness whereof, the parties above named, have hereunto set their hands and seals the day above written Annoque Domini 1688.

“ Signed sealed and delivered in presence of us

JOHN CLARK,

CHILDREN.

2531. Susannah, born July 4, 1679, at Say-Brook.

2532. Hannah. .. April 30, 1681. ..

2533. Abigail. .. March 16, 1682. She died June 21, 1683. There is no evidence of the marriage of either of the foregoing children of David Bull and Hannah his wife. It may be inferred from the foregoing indenture, that they died previous to the date of that instrument.

Of the descendants of Hannah Chapman, who married David Bull, there are known to be but 3.

DESCENDANTS IN THE LINE OF DEACON NATHANIEL
CHAPMAN, THE YOUNGEST SON OF ROBERT CHAP-MAN, THE SETTLER.

THIRD GENERATION.

DEACON NATHANIEL CHAPMAN, son of Robert Chapman, born February 16, 1653, was twice married: 1, to Mary Collins, of Guilford, June 29, 1681, by whom he had four children. The date of Mrs. Mary Chapman's decease has not been found. 2, to Hannah Bates, supposed to be the sister of Samuel Bates, of Say-Brook, July 26, 1698, by whom he had five children. Deacon Nathaniel Chapman died April 5, 1726, aged 73. His widow, Mrs. Hannah Chapman, died December, 1750, aged 83. His will and inventory appear in the Appendix, Note E.

That he was held in high estimation by his fellow-citizens, is evident from the fact that he was for many years deacon of the church in Say-Brook, and represented the town in the General Court, at twenty-four sessions.

He was a very large landholder, as appears from the records of the town of Say-Brook, and of the Oyster River Quarter. He owned fifteen hundred acres in Hebron, which he received by inheritance from his father, and presented to his son, the Rev. Daniel Chapman, of Fairfield, Green's Farms, Conn. On the decease of his father, he inherited the paternal homestead, and left the same, by his will, to his youngest son, Caleb, reserving to his widow, the use of one-third of his personal estate, and of his housing and lands, and the right of occupying the homestead, with the said Caleb Chapman, during her natural life, and making her and his two sons, John and Nathaniel Chapman, executrix and executors. His tombstone, a plain slab of slate, may be seen in the ancient burial-ground at Say-Brook, as also that of his second wife, Hannah.

The following extracts from the state records, will show the years of his attendance as Deputy to the General Court :

1. May	15, 1697.	9. May	10, 1705.	17. October	10, 1715.
2. October	14, 1697.	10. November	11, 1705.	18. May	10, 1716.

NATHANAEL CHAPMAN, son of Deacon Nathanael Chapman, born July 19, 1686, married Elizabeth Spencer, August, 1709, and had, by her, two children. He resided in what is now West-Brook, about half a mile east of the Congregational Meeting-house. The homestead is now occupied by his great-grandson, Gideon Chapman. The dates of Mr. Nathanael and Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman's decease have not been found.

CHILDREN.

2544. Nathanael,	" October,	1714.

2536.

REV. DANIEL CHAPMAN, son of Deacon Nathanael Chapman, born March 14, 1689, graduated at Yale College, in the class of 1707, being the first of the name that received a liberal education in America; after which, he studied theology and was ordained and installed pastor of the Congregational Church and Society of Green's Farms, Fairfield, Conn. He married Grissel Lovel, of the island of Cape Breton, a year or two previous to his settlement, by whom he had seven children, five sons and two daughters. Only three of his children were ever married. He died at Green's Farms, November 23, 1741, aged 52. Mrs. Grissel Chapman died June 10, 1754, aged 57.

| 2545. Daniel, born. 1715. | Graduated at Yale College in the class of 1738. | Died October 11, 1753, aged 38, without issue. |
| 2546. Phineas, born | 1716, | died November 20, 1682, aged 66. |
| 2547. Albert, " " | 1721, | died October 28, 1747, aged 26. |
| 2548. John, " " | 1728, | died June 2, 1757, aged 29. |
| 2549. Dennie, " " | about 1730. | |
| 2550. Elizabeth, " " | 1732. | |
| 2551. Mary, " " | 1734, | died single. |

There is no record of the births of the above children. The dates of the deaths of the first four are found in the church records, and their age, from which the years of their birth are inferred. Dennie is named in deeds, as brother of the others. On page 534 of vol. 8, of Fairfield town records, is a deed from "Joseph Scott, of Boston, and Elizabeth his wife, to our brother Dennie Chapman, of Fairfield, of a piece of land which was set out to said Elizabeth, as a part and portion of the estate of Rev. Daniel Chapman, deceased, signed,

JOSEPH SCOTT,
ELIZABETH SCOTT.

February 12, 1745."

There is also a deed from Joseph and Elizabeth Scott, of Boston, Mass., of a piece of undivided land, lying with land that belongs to Mary Chapman, dated June 14, 1748. Also, on page 369 of vol. 11, is a deed from Mary Chapman to her brother Dennie. The above is sufficient to establish the descent of the seven children, whose names are given, from Rev. Daniel Chapman.

JOHN CHAPMAN, son of Deacon Nathanael Chapman, born May 18, 1694, married Sarah Jones, April 15, 1730, and had, by her, seven children. He died, according to the Guilford probate records, in 1746.

CHILDREN.

2552. John, born April 28, 1731.
 2553. Collins, born September 6, 1732. It is not known that he was ever married. He left Say-Brook and resided in Wallingford. A deed of land is found, from him, in the Killingworth town records, in which he subscribes himself, "I, Collins Chapman, late of Say-Brook, now of Wallingford, in New Haven county." This is the last trace we can find of him.
 2554. Nathan, born May 20, 1734, removed to Wallingford, there is no evidence of his marriage.
 2555. Mary, born January 28, 1736. No more is known of her.
 2556. Sarah, " September 5, 1739, died single.
 2557. Hannah, " April 5, 1742. "
 2558. Dan, " January 26, 1745, "

DEACON CALEB CHAPMAN, son of Deacon Nathanael Chapman, born October 6, 1706, was thrice married: 1, to Thankful Lord, July 2, 1729, by whom he had eight children. Mrs. Thankful Chapman died August 31, 1747. 2, to Abigail Lee, January 11, 1749. The date of Mrs. Abigail Chapman's decease has not been ascertained. 3, to Hannah Platts, widow of Obadiah Platts, who died May 4, 1794.

Mr. Chapman served many years as deacon of the church of Say-Brook, and died universally lamented.

ELISHA CHAPMAN, son of Deacon Caleb Chapman, born November 10, 1740, married Huldah Lord, March 9, 1762, by whom he had thirteen children. Mr. Chapman was a man of extensive reading and general information, and occupied a prominent position in civil and religious affairs. He resided in Oyster River, on the old homestead of Robert, the first settler, and possessed the traditions in regard to our common ancestor, which he had received from his father and grandsire before him. There can be no doubt that his statements in regard to the home of Robert in England, and the port from which he embarked, were in the main, correct. His will is dated July 2, 1818, a copy of which, with his inventory, is found in the Appendix, Note I. He died June 17, 1825, aged 84. Mrs. Huldah Chapman died January 16, 1817, aged 73.

ABISHA CHAPMAN, son of Nathanael Chapman, born November 26, 1748, married Sarah Hill. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, taken prisoner and died on board the prison-ship, Blazemoor Castle, in the year 1778. The following notice of the fact is taken from Hinman's Revolutionary War: "The following persons were taken in the armed ship Blaze Castle, and carried to Halifax: Aaron Platts, William Carter, Abisha Chapman, Abner Stannard, Jr., Josiah Wolcott, Jeremiah Lay, Daniel Jones and John Stannard. All died but Daniel Jones and John Stannard, Jr., and all were from Say-Brook." Mr. Chapman left no children. His widow married Linus Bishop, of Guilford, Conn.

LIEUT. LEBBEUS CHAPMAN, son of Nathanael Chapman, born November 21, 1752, was twice married: 1, to Sybil Kirtland, (who was the only daughter of Lieut. Philip Kirtland, and his wife Sybil Pratt, born October 1, 1758,) March 7, 1776. By her he had eight children. Mrs. Sybil Chapman died August 14, 1796, aged nearly 38 years. 2, to Jemima Grinnel, February 7, 1797, by whom he had four children. In obedience to the call of his country, in that memorable struggle which resulted in the independence of our country, he entered the army and signalized himself as a soldier. He was appointed ensign, and then drum-major, in which capacity he served until, as appears by the records of the Secretary of State, he was appointed lieutenant, which took place September 25, 1777. When somewhat past the age of 40, and previous to his second marriage, he was afflicted with an inflammation of the eyes which resulted in total blindness.

He was, according to the testimony of his compeers and those of a later generation who knew him well, a man of strong native talents, uncommon vivacity and cheerfulness, an agreeable companion to both the old and the young, who sought and cultivated his acquaintance.

His fondness for society, which was reciprocated by a large circle of neighbors and friends, served to relieve, in a great measure, the gloom and loneliness which often results from the loss of sight.

He was for many years before his decease, a member of the Congregational Church. He lived on the place of his nativity, about half a mile east of the Congregational Meeting-house in West Brook, now occupied by his son, Gideon Chapman. He died October 16, 1833, aged 80. Mrs. Jemima Chapman died in 1837, at Hudson, New York.

JUDGE ASA CHAPMAN, son of Phineas Chapman, born September 2, 1770, fitted for college with Rev. Frederick W. Hotchkiss, the venerated pastor of the church of Say-Brook, and graduated at Yale, in the class of 1792. Of his scholarship while a member of college, it is sufficient to say that he shared the highest honors of his class, with the Hon. Roger M. Sherman.

G. W. Chapman

After he was graduated, he taught for a time in the academy of North Salem and also Norwalk, and continued to teach while in the practice of his profession.

He studied his profession with Hon. Tapping Reeve, of Litchfield, and was admitted to the bar in 1795, and settled in the practice of law at Newtown, Fairfield county, Conn., and was repeatedly elected the representative of that town to the General Assembly of the state, and in 1817, was elected a member of the governor's council, comprising at that time twelve members. In 1818, he was elected judge of the superior court and court of errors, which office he held until his death.

He married at Newtown, September 2, 1798, Miss Mary Perry, the daughter of Bennet Perry, M. D., by whom he had four children, three sons and one daughter. In the autumn of 1824, he removed from Newtown to New Haven, where he opened a law school, but which, owing to his declining health, he was obliged to relinquish; and after two journeys to the Springs, and through the Canadas, he returned to New Haven, where he died September 25, 1825. His widow, Mrs. Mary Chapman, survived him nearly twenty-five years, and died in Brooklyn, L. I., at the residence of her son, March 21, 1850. It has been remarked by Professor Silliman, "that he kept up, through life, in a remarkable degree, a fresh acquaintance with his collegiate studies," and by the Hon. Thomas Day, that "he possessed a vigorous and discriminating mind." He was attentive to business, and prompt in the performance of official duty.

[The above brief outline is extracted from a manuscript volume, in the library of Yale College, entitled "Memoirs of the Class of 1792, Yale College," by Timothy Mather Cooley, D. D., a class-mate, and James Cooley, with some alterations and additions, furnished by personal friends, by the compiler of this work.]

GEORGE H. CHAPMAN, Esq., youngest child of Elisha Chapman,

Geo. H. Chapman

PROPRIETOR OF THE ANCIENT HOME STEAD.

. From a painting executed in 1843 at the age of 54

born June 30, 1789, is the youngest of the sixth generation, from Robert, through the line of Deac. Nathanael Chapman. He commenced life as a teacher. With the small avails from teaching a district school one term, he commenced trade. As his means increased he fitted himself out as a traveling merchant. He pursued his vocation with untiring zeal, energy and success. Having traversed repeatedly the then states of the south and west, and accumulated sufficient means, he established himself as a wholesale dealer in dry goods and fancy articles in the city of Boston, and after some fifteen or twenty years of successful trade in that city, and having established his eldest two sons in the same business, he retired to the paternal homestead, in Oyster River, some ten years since, having in the mean time, greatly enlarged it by the addition of adjoining lands, and improved it by the erection of a large and substantial edifice and out-buildings, and enriched the lands by culture, making it the handsomest and best tilled farm in Old Say-Brook, and an honor to our distinguished ancestor, who first occupied the same site.

Mr. Chapman married Miss Lucia Tully, the fifth daughter of Elias and Azubah Tully, (who was of the sixth generation from John Tully, who died in England in 1644 or 1645, and the fifth generation from his son John, the first settler of the name, in Say-Brook,) November 3, 1814, by whom he has five children. He has represented the town of Say-Brook in the Legislature, and been honored by his fellow-citizens with other important offices of trust.

LEBBEUS CHAPMAN, Esq., son of Lieut. Lebbeus Chapman, born

Abner Chapman,

August 22, 1785, has been twice married: 1, to Catharine Rozette, March 9, 1809, by whom he had six children; 2, to Eliza (Chapman) Ingersoll, widow of Jonathan Ingersoll, and daughter of Titus Chapman, June 29, 1825, by whom he has had eight children. He at present resides in the city of Brooklyn, New York, and from the time he left his father's house in 1801, has always been engaged in mercantile, commercial and moneyed concerns, either on his own account or as an agent for others, and, in all probability, had he possessed a miserly disposition, would now have been worth millions; but such was not the bent of his mind. As an accountant, he has but few equals. He, many years since, published a large work entitled, "Chapman's Interest Tables," a work evincing great industry and accuracy in figures, and which, from the time of its publication, has proved an efficient aid in large business transactions. Not a morning comes but finds him busy, in reading or writing. A few years since, he employed his early morning hours, in copying the Old and New Testament, which was completed in less than one year, and is now bound in quarto, a most beautiful volume. It was his desire to have bound with this volume, as full a genealogical table of his ancestors as could be gathered, that led him to solicit the author of this work to prepare and publish "The Genealogy of the Chapman Family." He has also copied the old standard New England version of Watts' Psalms, for which he has always evinced a decided preference, as superior in his view, to the modern versions.* He was one of the leading few who projected and organized the Marine Temperance Society of the Port of New York, and the first certificate ever presented to a sailor for signature, was written

* Mr. Chapman thinks, (and in this opinion is not alone,) that the couplet of Oliver Arnold would not very inaptly apply to those modern divines who have undertaken to improve Watts by sundry alterations and additions. "In a bookseller's shop in New Haven, Arnold was introduced to Joel Barlow, who had, just then, acquired considerable notoriety by the publication of an altered edition of Watts' Psalms and Hymns. Barlow asked for a specimen of his talent, upon which the wandering poet immediately repeated the following stanza:

"You've proved yourself a sinful cre'tur,
 You've murdered Watts and spoilt the meter;
 You've tried the word of God to alter,
 And for your pains deserve a halter."

and presented by him. In many other benevolent enterprises, he has been, and is still engaged.

REV. FREDERICK W. CHAPMAN, son of Abisha Chapman, born at Canfield, Trumbull county, Ohio, November 17, 1806, was hopefully converted while attending the academy at Tallmadge in the year 1821. He entered immediately upon a course of study preparatory to college, under the instruction of Deac. Elizur Wright, a graduate of Yale, of the class of 1781. He entered Yale in the fall of 1824, and graduated in the class of 1828. He taught the academy at Sharon one year, when he entered the Theological Seminary and graduated in the class of 1832. Having received a unanimous call from the Congregational Church in Stratford, Conn., about three months previous to the close of his theological course, he was ordained and installed, September 5, 1832. He married, May 6, 1833, Emily Hill, eldest child of Henry and Emily Hill, of West-Brook, her mother being the youngest daughter of Lieut. Lebbeus Chapman, and of the sixth generation from Robert, in the line of his youngest son, Deac.

Nathanael Chapman. By her he has three children. Having received a unanimous call from the Church at Deep River, Conn., he resigned his pastoral charge at Stratford, and was dismissed, May 16, 1839, and installed at Deep River, May 29, 1839. After serving the latter church about eleven years and six months, he received a unanimous call from the Church in South Glastenbury. He was dismissed at Deep River, October 1, 1850, and installed at Glastenbury, the 24th of the same month, where he now resides. Mr. Chapman's father died young, and he being left without means, was obliged to rely, principally, upon his own exertions, in procuring a collegiate and theological education. Knowing the trials of such a course, he has aided several young men in fitting for college, by hearing them recite in their preparatory studies, without any charge. Throughout his entire ministry, he has been occupied, most of the time, in the instruction of youth, either in private classes or in select schools. During a period of little more than twenty years, between five and six hundred pupils have shared his instructions, for a longer or shorter period of time, over thirty of whom have entered the learned professions.

GENEALOGICAL NOTES OF WILLIAM CHAPMAN, ONE OF THE EARLY SETTLERS OF NEW LONDON, CONNECTICUT.

At the commencement of these researches it was supposed that William Chapman, of New London, might be a near relative of Robert Chapman of Say-Brook, but on further investigation, no evidence has been found that they were kinsmen. It is not known from whence William came. He appears first on the New London records, in 1657.

In the book of town grants, appears the following: "William Chapman hath given him thirty ackers of upland bounded towards the south with Mr. Douglas his land, and towards the east with the small brook that leads to Jordan River, and towards the north with Arkaubukie* Meadow, and towards the west with a ledge of rocks and a tree marked on four sides." The above grant was made at a meeting in 1663.

At a town-meeting, August 25, 1691, it was "Voated that whereas William Chapman had formerly allowed him by the town three pounds for his sexton's place by the yeare, they now add forty shillings more and order him five pounds per year for sweeping the meeting house and galleries and ringing the bell."

He died the 18th of December, 1699.

The following is a copy of his will presented in the court of probate soon after his decease. It furnishes the only clue to the names of his children, as they are not recorded in the town records:

"The last Will and Testament of William Chapman, of New London.

"I William Chapman of New London senior, being sick and weak of body, but threw the goodness of God, in perfect memory and good understanding, do make this my last Will and Testament revoking and making void all others:

* There is some doubt about the orthography of this word.

first I resine up my sole to God who gave it and my body to the ground to be buried decently and handsomely, and what of the things of this world God hath grasassly given me I despose of as followeth, first I will that all my just debts be honestly discharged and pay^d, and as to my funeral charges I will that they be discharged next.

“Item, I give unto my eldest son John Chapman, a double portion of my estate.

“Item, I give unto my son William Chapman his equal proportion with his brothers allowing John his double portion as afore of my estate.

“Item, I give unto my son Samuel his equal proportion of my estate with his brothers allowing his eldest brother John as abovesaid.

“Item, I give to my son Jeremiah Chapman his equal proportion of my estate with his brothers allowing John as abovesaid.

“Item, I give to my son Joseph Chapman an equal proportion of my estate with his brothers allowing his eldest brother as abovesaid.

“Item, I give unto my two daughters, Sarah and Rebeccah, all the utensils and moveable household stuff, within or that belongs to y^e house, to be equally divided between them: next I will that my son Jeremiah, if he please, have my house and home lot, paying out to his brothers the several legasys I have given them by this my last Will and Testament. I appoint my son Jeremiah Chapman to be my Executor to this my last Will and Testament, in witness whereof I have here set to my hand and seal this the first day of April 1669.

From the records of the court of probate, it appears that he lived over thirty years after making his will. The inventory of his estate was exhibited in court, (the appraisal bearing date January 2, 1669-70,) amounting to £28 0s. 6d.

According to the will, he had seven children.

THIRD GENERATION.

— JOHN CHAPMAN, son of William, supposed to be born in 1663, married a lady whose Christian name was Sarah. Her family name and the date of the marriage, have not been ascertained. He removed to Colchester, probably in the year 1706. He deeds property, April 15, 1706, (town of Colchester,) to his brother William, of New London. He was living at Colchester in May, 1748, when it was observed that he would be 95 years old next November. Of course, he was born in November, 1653. There are deeds of lands on Colchester records to six sons, and whether he had daughters, does not appear.

The following account is found in Miss Caulkins' New London, page 532. “Major James Chapman of Selden's regiment, Wadsworth's brigade, was a man of strength and stature beyond the common standard, and as a soldier steady and brave. But what avail these qualities against the aim of the marksman, or the force of a cannon-ball! He was slain in what was called the orchard fight, near Harlem, when the army was retreating from New York, September 15, 1776. His son James, a youth of only fifteen years of age, was with him when he fell.”

He married Elizabeth Douglas, September 17, 1758, by whom he had four children. The following account of his death is found in Miss Caulkins' New London, page 577. "July 2, 1788, Capt. John Chapman and nine other persons, chiefly emigrants from Ireland, were drowned within twenty rods of the shore of Fisher's Island. The disaster was occasioned by the upsetting of two boats; one of them being deeply laden, was filling with water, and her people all seizing hold of the other, that also filled and sank. Capt. Chapman had just arrived with a company of emigrants, (probably about twenty,) and some of them being sick, he was attempting to land them on the island, where a tent was to be erected in which they might perform the necessary period of quarantine. Capt. Chapman had served in the Revolutionary War, both in a naval and military capacity. He was a brother of Major James Chapman, who fell at Harlem Heights in 1776, and of Lieut. Richard Chapman, slain in Fort Griswold, in 1781."

* The following items in regard to this family, were furnished by Hon. Enoch Chapman, of Norwich, Conn., one of the descendants: "The Christian name of the Mr. Chapman who was father of the above John Chapman the settler, I have not been able to learn. He lived some fifty miles from London, and married Johanah or Joanna Sumner. Their son John was by trade a weaver, having served seven years to learn, and being on a visit to London, was pressed on board a man-of-war. After some time, the ship visited Boston, New England, and the said John availed himself of an opportunity to assume the liberty of which he had been deprived; he fled and found succor in the abode of Samuel Alden, in what is now called Wakefield, in Rhode Island, where he worked at his trade. A while afterward, we find him in what is now North Stonington, where he married Sarah Brown, according to the town records, February 16, 1710."

GENEALOGICAL NOTES OF REV. BENJAMIN CHAPMAN, OF SOUTHTON, CONNECTICUT.

THE descendants of Rev. BENJAMIN CHAPMAN are unable to give any account of his parentage. The prevailing belief among them, however, is that he originated from Say-Brook. The author of this work has taken unwearied pains to ascertain who his parents were, but has failed. He may have been born in Say-Brook, and yet his name, for some cause, not have been entered in the register of births. It is the case with many families, that several of the older children are recorded, while the younger are not found there, either because the parents removed before their birth, or became negligent in reporting their names and births to the town-clerk. In most instances, the writer has been able to ascertain the names and births of such as are not on the Say-Brook town records, from other sources.

The following facts in regard to the subject of this brief sketch, have been obtained from the records of the church in Southton, and from his grandson, the Hon. Reuben A. Chapman, of Springfield, Mass. He graduated at Princeton, in the class of 1754, and was ordained and installed at Southton, (then the Third Church in Farmington, Conn.) March 17, 1756. He officiated as the pastor of that church upward of eighteen years, being dismissed September 28, 1774. He continued, after his dismissal, to reside in Southton until his decease, a period of nearly twelve years. He married Miss Abigail Riggs, of Derby, and had, by her, eight children.

Mr. Chapman was esteemed by his cotemporaries, as a sound and useful minister of the gospel. His death transpired, according to Southton records, June 22, 1786, his age being 61. Mrs. Abigail Chapman died October 10, 1782, aged 54.

FOURTH GENERATION.

HON. REUBEN A. CHAPMAN, son of Mr. Samuel Chapman, born September 20, 1801, is an eminent lawyer in Springfield, Mass. Although he never graduated at college, he is a gentleman of high attainments in literature and science, in consequence of which, he was some years since admitted an honorary member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Yale College. At the time of his admission it was remarked in the hearing of the writer, by Professor Porter, of Yale College, and the Hon. Mr. Bates, of Massachusetts, that "he stands at the very head of the legal profession in Hampden county."

It is no small tribute to his legal abilities, that he was appointed, in 1849, in company with Judge Curtis and the Hon. N. J. Lord, to revise and reform the proceedings in the Massachusetts courts of law, and that with those gentlemen, he prepared the code of practice now in use in that state.

He was elected by the last legislature, a member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard College.

He married, June 2, 1829, Miss Elizabeth Knox, of Blandford, Mass., by whom he has three children.

NOTE A.

A LETTER* FROM LYON GARDNER TO ROBERT CHAPMAN AND THOMAS HURLBURT.

[Taken from the Massachusetts Historical Collections.]

“EAST HAMPTON, June 12, 1660.

“Loving Friends, Robert Chapman and Thomas Hurlburt, my love remembered to you both, these are to inform, that as you desired me when I was with you and Major Mason at Seabrooke, two years and an half ago, to consider and to call to mind the passages of God's Providence at Seabrooke, in and about the time of the Pequit [Pequot] war, wherein I have now endeavored to answer your Desires, and having rumaged and found some old papers then written, it was a great help to my memory. You know that, when I came to you, I was an Engineer or Architect, whereof carpentry is a little part, but you know I never could use all the tools, for, although for my necessity, I was forced, sometimes, to use my shifting chissel, and my hold fast, yet you know I could never endure nor abide the smoothing plane; I have sent you a piece of timber scored and fore-hewed, unfit to join to any handsome piece of work, but seeing I have done the hardest work, you must get somebody to chip it and to smooth it lest the splinters should prick some men's fingers, for the truth must not be spoken, at all times, though, to my knowledge, I have written nothing but truth, and you may take out or put in what you please, or, if you will, may throw it all into the fire; but I think you may

* It was not the design of the compiler of this work to insert but a small portion of this letter; but at the solicitation of several prominent members of the family, he has consented to insert the letter entire, as it contains much that will interest the descendants of the early settlers of Say-Brook generally, but few of whom can have access to the Massachusetts Historical Collections.

let the Governor and Major Mason see it. I have, also, inserted some additions of things that were done since, that they may be considered together. And thus as I was, when I was with you, so I remain still

“Your loving friend

LION GARDENER.”

“In the year, 1635 I Lion Gardener, Engineer and Master of works of Fortifications in the legers of the Prince of Orange in the Low Countries, through the persuasion of Mr. John Davenport, Mr. Hugh Peters, with some other well affected Englishmen of Rotterdam, I made an agreement with the forenamed Mr Peters, for £100 per annum for four years, to serve the company of patentees, namely the Lord Say, the Lord Brooks, [Brook,] Sir Arthur Hazelrig, Sir Matthew Bonnington, [Bonington,] Sir Richard Saltingstone, [Saltonstall,] Esquire Fenwicke, and the rest of their company, [I say,] I was to serve them, only in the drawing, ordering and making of a City, Towns or forts of defence. And so I came from Holland to London, where I was appointed to attend such orders, as Mr John Winthrop Esquire, the present Governor of Conectecott, was to appoint whether at Pequit [Pequot] river or Conectecott and, that we should choose a place, both for the convenience of a good harbor, and also for capableness and fitness for a fortification. But I landing at Boston the latter end of November, the aforesaid Mr Winthrop had sent before one Lieut Gibbons, Sergeant Willard, with some carpenters, to take possession of the Rivers mouth, where they began to build houses against the spring, we expecting according to promise, that there would have come from England to us 300 able men, whereof 200 should attend fortification, 50 to till the ground, and 50 to build houses. But our great expectation at the Rivers mouth came only to two men, viz. Mr Fenwick, and his man, who came with Mr Hugh Peters and Mr Oldham and Thomas Stanton, bringing with them some Otterskin coats and Beaver, and skeins of wampum which the Pequits [Pequots] had sent for a present, because the English had required those Pequits [Pequots] that had killed a Virginean [Virginian] one Capt Stone with his Barks crew, in Conectecott River; for they said they would have their lives and not their presents; then I answered Seeing you will take Mr Winthrop to the Bay, to see his wife, newly brought to bed of her first child, and seeing though you say he shall return yet I know, if you make war with these Pequits he will not come hither again, for I know you will keep yourselves safe, as you think in the Bay, but myself, with these few, you will leave at the stake to be roasted or for hunger to be starved; for Indian corn is now 12s. per bushel, and we have but three acres planted, and if they will now make war for a Virginean and expose us to the Indians, whose mercies are cruelties; they, I say, they love the Virgineans better than us; for have they stayed these four or five years, and will they begin now, we being so few in the River, and have scarce holes to put our head in? I pray ask the magistrates in the Bay if they have forgot what I said to them when I returned from Salem? For Mr

Winthrop, Mr Haines, Mr Dudley, Mr Ludlow, Mr Humphrey, Mr Belingam, [Bellingham,] Mr Coddington, and Mr Nowell;—these entreated me to go with Mr Humfry and Mr Peters to view the country, to see how fit it was for fortification, and I told them that nature had done more then half the work, already and I thought no foreign potent enemy would do them any hurt, but one that was near. They asked me who that was, and I said it was Capt Hunger that threatened them most, for, [said I,] War is like a threefooted stool, want one foot and down comes all; and these three feet are men, victuals and munitions; therefore seeing in peace you are like to be famished, what will or can be done if War? Therefore, I think, said I, it will be best only to fight against Capt Hunger, and let fortification alone awhile; and, if need hereafter, require it, I can come to do you any service; and they all liked my saying well. Entreat them to rest a while, till we get more strength here about us, and that we hear where the seat of war will be, may approve of it and may provide for it, for I had but twenty four in all, men women, and boys and girls, and not food for them for two months, unless we saved our cornfields,* which could not possibly be if they came to war, for it is two miles from our home. Mr Winthrop, Mr Fenwick and Mr Peters promised me that they would do their utmost endeavor to persuade the Bay-Men, to desist from war a year or two, till we could be better provided for it; and then the Pequit Sachem was sent for, and the present returned, but full sore against my will. So they three returned to Boston and, two or three days after, came an Indian from Pequit whose name was Cocommitlus who had lived at Plimoth, and could speak good English; he desired that Mr Steven [Stephen] Winthrop would go to Pequit, with an £100 worth of trucking cloth, and all other kind of trading ware, for they knew that we had a great cargo of goods, of Mr Pincheon's and Mr Steven Winthrop had the disposing of it. And he said that if he would come he might put off all his goods, and the Pequit sachem would give him two horses that had been there a great while. So I sent the shallop with Mr Steven Winthrop Sergeant Tille, [Tilley,] (whom we called afterward Sergeant Kettle, because he put the kettle on his head) and Thomas Hurlburt, and three men more, charging them that they should ride in the middle of the River, and not go ashore till they had done all their trade, and that Mr Steven Winthrop should stand in the hold of the boat, having their guns by them, and swords by their sides, the other four to be, two in the fore cuddie, and two in aft, being armed in like manner, that so they out of the loop-holes might clear the boat, if they were by the Pequits assaulted; and, that they should let but one canoe come aboard at once, with no more but four Indians in her, and, when she had traded, then another and that they should lie no longer there than one day; and, at night to go out of the river; and if they brought the two horses, to take them in at a clear piece of land, at the mouth of the River, two of them go ashore to help the horses in and the rest stand ready, with their guns in their hands, if need were to defend them from the Pequits; for I durst not trust them. So they went and found but little trade, and, they having forgotten what I charged them, Thomas Hurlburt and one more went ashore to boil the kettle, and Thomas Hurlburt stepping into the Sachem's wigwam, not far from the shore, enquiring for the horses, the Indians went out of the wigwam, and Wincumbone, his mother's sister, was then the great Pequit sachem's wife, who made signs to him that he should be gone, for they would cut off his head; which, when he perceived, he drew his sword and ran to the others and got aboard and, immediately, came abundance of Indians to the water side and called them to come ashore, but they immediately set sail and came home and this caused me to keep watch and ward, for I saw they plotted our destruction. And suddenly after came Cap^t Turner and Cap^t Undrill [Underhill,] with a company of soldiers, well-fitted to Sea-brook, and made that place their rendezvous or seat of war and that to my great grief, for said I you came hither to raise these wasps about my ears, and then you will take wing and fly away; but when I had their commission I wondered and made many allegations against the manner of it, but go they did to Pequit, and as they came without acquainting any of us, in the River, with it, so they went against our will, for, I knew that I should lose our cornfield; then I entreated them to hear what I would say to them, which was this; Sirs seeing you will go, I pray you, if you dont load your barks with Pequits, load them with corn, for that is now gathered with them, and dry, ready to put into their barns and both you and we have need of it, and I will send my shallop and hire this Dutchman's boat, there present, to go with you, and, if you cannot attain your end of the Pequits, yet you may load your barks with corn which will be welcome to Boston and to me. But they said they had no bags to load them with; then said I here is three dozen of new bags, you shall have thirty of them, and my shallop to carry them, and six of them, my men shall use themselves, for I will, with the Dutchman, send twelve men well provided; and I desired them to divide the men into three parts, viz two parts to stand without the corn and to defend the other one third part that carried the corn to the water side, till they have loaded what they can. And the men there in arms, when the rest are aboard, shall, in order, go aboard, the rest that are aboard shall, with their arms clear the shore, if the Pequits do assault them, in the rear, and then, when the General shall display his colors, all to set sail together. To this motion they all agreed, and I put the three dozen of bags aboard my shallop, and away they went, and demanded the Pequit Sachem to come into parley. But, it was returned for answer that he was from home, but, within three hours he would come; and so from three to six, and thence to nine, there came none. But the Indians came without arms to our men, in great numbers, and they talked with my men, whom they knew, but, in the end, at a word given, they all on a sudden ran away from our men, as they stood in rank and file, and not an Indian more was to be seen; and all this while, before, they carried all their stuff away and thus was that great parley ended. Then they displayed their colors and beat their drums, burnt some wigwams and some heaps of corn, and my men carried as much aboard as they could, but the army went aboard, leaving my men ashore which ought to have marched aboard first. But they all set sail, and my men were pursued by the Indians and they hurt some of the Indians, and two of them came home wounded. The Bay-men killed not a man, save that one Kichomiquin [Cutshamequin] an Indian Sachem of the Bay, killed a Pequit, and thus began the war between the Indians and us in these parts. So my men having come home, and having brought a pretty quantity of corn with them, they informed me (both Dutch and English,) of all passages. I was glad of the corn. After this I immediately took men and went to our cornfield to gather our corn, appointing others to come about with the shallop and fetch it, and left five lusty men in the strong house with long guns which house I had built for the defence of the corn. Now these men, not regarding the charge, I had given them three of them went a mile from the house a fowling; and, having loaded themselves with fowl, they returned. But the Pequits let them pass first till they had loaded themselves, but, at their return, they arose out of their ambush and shot them all three; one of them escaped through the corn, shot through the leg, the other two they tormented. Then the next day I sent the shallop to fetch the five men and the rest of the corn that was broken down, and they found but three, as above said, and when they had gotten that, they left the rest; and, as soon as they were gone a little way, from shore, they saw the house on fire. Now so soon as the boat came home, and brought us this bad news, old Mr Mitchell was very urgent with me to lend him the boat to fetch hay home from the six mile Island, but I told him they were too few men, for his four men could but carry the hay aboard, and one must stand in the boat to defend them, and they must have two more at the foot of the Rock, with their guns, to keep the Indians from running down upon them. And in the first place, before they carry any of the cocks of hay, to scour the meadow with their three dogs—to march, all abreast, from the lower end up to the Rock, and if they found the meadow clear, then to load their hay; but this was also neglected, for they all went ashore and fell to carrying off their hay, and the Indians, presently, rose out of the long grass and killed three and took the brother of Mr Mitchell who is the minister of Cambridge and roasted him alive; and so they served a shallop of his coming down the river in the Spring, having two men, one whereof they killed at Six Mile Island, the other came down drowned to us ashore at our doors, with an arrow shot into his eye, through his head.

“ In the 22d of February, (1637.) I went out with ten men and three dogs, half a mile from the house, to burn the weeds, leaves and reeds upon the neck of land, because we had felled twenty timber trees, which we were to roll to the water-side to bring home, every man carrying a length of match with brimstone, with him, to kindle the fire withal. But when we came to the small of the neck, the weeds burning, I having before this set two sentinels on the small of the neck. I called to the men, that were burning the reeds, to come away, but, they would not until they had burnt up the rest of their matches. Presently, there starts up four Indians out of the firy reeds, but ran away, I calling to the rest of our men to come away out of the marsh. Then Robert Chapman and Thomas Hurlburt, being sentinels, called to me, saying there came a number of Indians out of the other side of the marsh. Then, I went to stop them that they should not get the wood-land; but Thomas Hurlburt cried out to me that some of the men did not follow me, for, Thomas Rumble and Arthur Branch threw down their two guns and ran away; then the Indians shot two of them, that were in the reeds, and sought to get between us and home, but durst not come before us, but kept us in a half moon, we retreating and exchanging many a shot, so that Thomas Hurlburt was shot almost through the thigh, John Spenceer in the back, into his kidneys, myself through the thigh; two more were shot dead. But in our retreat I kept Hurlburt and Spenceer still before us, we defending ourselves with our naked swords, or else they had taken us all alive, so that the two sore wounded men, by our slow retreat got home with their guns, when our two sound men ran away, and left their guns behind them. But, when I saw the cowards that left us, I resolved to let them draw lots which of them should be hanged, (for the articles did hang up in the hall for them to read, and they knew they had been published long before.) But, at the intercession of old Mr Mitchell, Mr Higginson, [Higginson,] and Mr Pell, I did forbear. Within a few days after, when I had cured myself of my wound, I went out with eight men to get some fowl for our relief, and found the guns that were thrown away, and the body of one man shot through; the arrow going in at the right side, the head sticking fast, half through a rib on the left side, which I took out and cleansed it, and preserved to send to the Bay, because they had said that the arrows of the Indians were of no force.

“Anthony Dike, master of a bark, having his bark at Rhode Island, in the winter, was sent by Mr Vane, then Governor. Anthony came to Rhode Island, and, from thence, he came with his bark, to me, with a letter, wherein was desired that I should consider and prescribe the best way I could, to quell these Pequots, which I also did, and, with my letter, sent the man's rib as a token. A few days after, came Thomas Stanton, down the river and staying for a wind; while he was there came a troop of Indians within musket shot laying themselves and their arms down, behind a little rising hill and two great trees; which I perceiving, called the carpenter whom I had shown how to charge and level a gun, and that he should put two cartridges of musket bullets, into two sakers guns that lay about, and we leveled them against the place, and I told him that he must look towards me, and when he saw me wave my hat above my head, he should give fire to both the guns: then presently came three Indians creeping out and calling to us to speak with us: and I was glad that Thomas Stanton was there, and I sent six men down by the Garden Pales, to look that none should come under the hills behind us, and having placed the rest in places convenient, closely, Thomas and I with my sword, pistol and carbine, went ten or twelve pole without the gate to parley with them. And when the six men came to the garden pales, at the corner, they found a great number of Indians creeping behind the fort, or betwixt us and home, but they ran away. Now I had said to Thomas Stanton, whatsoever they say to you, tell me first, for we will not answer them directly to any thing, for I know not the mind of the rest of the English. So they came forth, calling us nearer to them, and we them nearer to us. But I would not let Thomas go any further than the great stump of a tree, and I stood by him; then they asked who we were, and he answered, Thomas and Lieutenant. But they said he lied, for I was shot with many arrows; and so I was, but my buff-coat preserved me; only one hurt me. But when I spake to them they knew my voice for one of them had dwelt three months with us, but ran away when the Bay-men came first. Then they asked us if we would fight with Niantecut Indians, for they were our friends and came to trade with us. We said we knew not the Indians, one from another, and, therefore would trade with none. Then they said have you fought enough? We said we knew not yet. Then, they asked, if we did use to kill women and children? We said they should see that hereafter. So they were silent a small space, and then, they said we are Pequits and have killed Englishmen, and can kill them as mosquitoes, and we will go to Conectecott, and kill men, women and children, and we will take away the horses, cows and hogs. When Thomas Stanton had told me this, he prayed me to shoot that rogue, for, said he, he hath an Englishmans coat on, and saith that he hath killed three, and these other four have their clothes upon their backs. I said no, it is not the manner of a parley, but have patience and I shall fit them ere they go. Nay, now or never, said he; so when he could get no answer but this last, I bid him tell them that they should not go to Conecticott, for if they did kill all the men and take all the rest as they said, it would do them no good, but hurt, for English women are lazy and can't do their work; horses and cows will spoil your corn fields, and, the hogs their clam-banks and so undo them; then I pointed to our great house, and bid him tell them there lay twenty pieces of trucking cloth, of Mr. Pincheons, with hoes, hatchets and all manner of trade, they were better fight still with us, and, so get all that, and then go up the river after they had killed us. Having heard this they were mad as dogs, and ran away; then when they came to the place from whence they came, I waved my hat about my head, and the two great guns went off so that there was a great hubbub amongst them. Then two days after, came down Capt Mason and Sergeant Seeley, with five men more, to see how it was with us; and whilst they were there, came down a Dutch boat telling us the Indians had killed fourteen English, for, by that boat I had sent up letters to Conectecott, what I heard and what I thought, and how to prevent that threatened danger, and received back again rather a scoff, than any thanks for my care and pains.

“But as I wrote so it fell out to my great grief and theirs, for the next, or second day after, (as Major Mason well knows.) came down a great many canoes, going down the creek, beyond the marsh, before the fort, many of them having white shirts; then I commanded the carpenter, whom I had showed to level great guns, to put in two round shot into the two sackers, and we levelled them at a certain place, and I stood to bid him give fire; when I thought the canoe would meet the bullet, and one of them took off the nose of a great canoe wherein the two maids were that were taken by the Indians, whom I redeemed and clothed, for the Dutchmen, whom I sent to fetch them, brought them away almost naked from Pequit, they putting on their own linen jackets to cover their nakedness; and, though the redemption cost me ten pounds, I am yet to have thanks for my care and charge about them; these things are known to Major Mason.

“Then came from the Bay Mr Tille, with a permit to go up to Harford [Hartford,] and, coming ashore, he saw a paper nailed up over the gate, whereon was written, that no boat or bark should pass the fort, but, that they come to an anchor first, that I might see whether they were armed and manned sufficiently, and they were not to land any where after they had passed the fort, till they came to Wethersfield; and this I did because Mr Mitchell had lost a shallop, before coming down from Wethersfield, with three men well armed. This Mr Tille gave me ill language, for my presumption, (as he called it,) with other expressions, too long here to write. When he had done I bid him go to his ware-house, which he had built before I came, to fetch his goods from thence, for I would watch no longer over it. So he knowing nothing went and found his house burnt, and one of Mr Plums, with others, and he told me to my face that I had caused it to be done; but Mr Higginson, Mr Pell, Thomas Huriburt and John Green can witness that, the same day that our house was burnt at Cornfield point, I went with Mr Higginson, Mr Pell, and four men more, broke open a door and took a note of all that was in the house, and gave it to Mr Higginson to keep, and so brought all the goods to our house, and delivered it all to them again, when they came for it without any penny of charge. Now the very next day after I had taken the goods out, before the sun was quite down and we all together in the great hall, all them houses were on fire in one instant. The Indians ran away, but, I would not follow them. Now, when Mr Tille had received all his goods, I said unto him, I thought I had deserved for my honest care both for their bodies and goods, of those that passed by here, at the least better language, and am resolved to order such malpert persons as you are; therefore, I wish you and also charge you to observe that, which you have read at the gate, ‘tis my duty to God, my Master and my love I bear to you all, which is the ground of this had you but eyes to see it; but you will not till you feel it.’ So he went up the river, and when he came down again to his place which I called Tille’s folly, now called Tilles point, in our sight in despite, having a fair wind he came to an anchor, and with one man more went ashore, discharged his gun, and the Indians fell upon him, and killed the other and carried him alive over the river in our sight, before my shallop could come to them; for, immediately I sent seven men to fetch the Pink down, or else it had been taken and three men more. So they brought her down, and I sent Mr Higginson and Mr Pell aboard, to take an invoice of all that was in the vessel, that nothing might be lost.

Two days after came to me, as I had written, to Sir Henerie Vane, then governor of the Bay, I say came to me, Capt Undrill, [Underhill,] with twenty lusty men, well armed to stay with me two months, or till something should be done about the Pequits. He came at the charge of my masters. Soon after came down from Harford, Major Mason, Lieut Seeley, accompanied with Mr Stone and eighty Englishmen, and eighty Indians, with a commission from Mr Ludlow and Mr Steele, and some others; these came to go fight with the Pequits. But when Capt Undrill [Underhill] and I had seen their commission, we both said they were not fitted for such a design, and we said to Major Mason, we wondered he would venture himself, being no better fitted; and he said the magistrates could not or would not send better; then we said that none of our men should go with them, neither should they go unless we, that were bred soldiers from our youth, could see some likelihood to do better than the Bay-men with their strong commission last year. Then I asked them how they durst trust the Mohegin [Mohegan] Indians, who had but that year come from the Pequits. They said they would trust them, for they could not well go without them for want of guides. Yea, said I, but I will try them before a man of ours shall go with you or them; and I called for Uncas, and said unto him, you say you will help Major Mason, but, I will first see it, therefore send you now twenty men to the Bass-River, for, there went yester-night six Indians in a canoe thither; fetch them now dead or alive, and then you shall go with Major Mason, else not. So he sent his men who killed four, brought one a traitor to us alive, whose name was Kiswas, and one ran away. And I gave him fifteen yards of trading cloth, on my own charge, to give unto his men according to their desert. And having staid there five or six days before we could agree, at last we old soldiers agreed about the way and act, and took twenty insufficient men from the eighty that came from Harford, [Hartford,] and sent them up again in a shallop, and Capt Undrill [Underhill,] with twenty of the lustiest of our men went in their room and I furnished them with such things as they wanted, and sent Mr Pell, the surgeon, with them, and the Lord God blessed their design and way, so that they returned with victory to the glory of God, and honor of our nation, having slain three hundred burnt their fort and taken many prisoners. Then came to me an Indian called Wequash, and I, by Mr Higginson, inquired of him, how many of the Pequits were yet alive that had helped to kill Englishmen; and he declared them to Mr Higginson, and he writ them down as may appear by his own hand here enclosed, and I did as therein is written. Then three days after the fight came Waiandance, next brother to the Old Sachem of Long Island, and, having been recommended to me by Major Gibbons, he came to know if we were angry with all Indians, I answered no, but, only with such as had killed Englishmen. He asked me whether they that had lived on Long Island, might come to trade with us. I said no, nor we with them, for I should send my boat to trade for corn, and you have Pequits with you and, if my boat should come into some creek, by reason of bad weather, they might kill my men, and I shall think that you of Long Island have done it, and so we may kill all you for the Pequits; but if you will kill all the Pequits that come to you and send me their heads, then I will give to you as to Weakwash [Wequash,] and you shall have trade with us. Then said he I will go to my brother for he is the Great Sachem of all Long Island, and if we may have peace and trade with you, we will give you tribute as we did the Pequits. Then I said if you have any Indians that have killed English, you must bring their heads also. He answered not any one, and said that Gibbons, my brother, would have told you, if it had been so; so he went away and did as I had said, and sent me five heads, three and four heads for which I paid them that brought them as I had promised.

“Then came Capt. Stoten [Stoughton] with an army of 300 men, from the Bay to kill the Pequits; but they were fled beyond New Haven to a swamp. I sent Wequash after them, who went by night to spy out, and the army followed him and found them at the Great Swamp, who killed some and took others, and the rest fled to the Mowhakues [Mohawks] with their Sachem. Then the Mohawks cut off his head and sent it to Hartford, for then they all feared us, but now it is otherwise, for, they say to our faces, that our commissioners meet once a year, and speak a great deal, or write a letter, and there's all, for they do not fight. But before they went to the Great Swamp they sent Thomas Stanton over to Long Island and Shelter Island to find Pequits there but there was none, for the Sachem Waiandance that was at Plimoth, when the commissioners were there, and set there last, I say, he had killed so many of the Pequits and sent their heads to me, that they durst not come to these; and he and his men went with the English to the swamp and thus the Pequits were quelled at that time. But there was like to be a great broil between Miantenomie [Miantummomoh] and Unehus, [Uncas,] who should have the rest of the Pequits, but we mediated between them and pacified them; also Unehus challenged the Narraganset Sachem out to a single combat, but he could not fight without all his men; but they were pacified, though the old grudge remained still, as it doth appear. Thus far I had written in a book, that all men and posterity might know how and why so many honest men had their blood shed, yea, and some flayed alive, others cut in pieces, and some roasted alive, only because Kichamakin [Cutshamequin,] a Bay Indian, killed one Pequit; and thus far of the Pequit war, which was but a comedy in comparison of the tragedies which hath been here threatened since, and may yet come, if God does not open the eyes, ears, and hearts of some that I think are, wilfully, deaf and blind, and think because there is no change that the vision fails, and put the evil-threatened day far off, for say they, We are now twenty to one to what we were then, and none dare meddle with us—Oh! wo be to the pride and security, which hath been the ruin of many nations as woful experience has proved.

“But I wonder, and so doth many more with me, that the Bay doth no better revenge the murdering of Mr Oldham an honest man of their own; seeing they were at such cost for a Virginian. The Narragansets that were at Block Island killed him and had £50 of gold of his for, I saw it when he had five pieces of me and put it up into a clout and tied it up, all together, when he went away from me to Block Island, but the Narragansets had it, and punched holes into it, and put it about their necks for jewels; and afterwards I saw the Dutch have some of it, which they had of the Narragansets at a small rate.

“And now I find that to be true, which our friend Waiandance told me, many years ago, and that was this; that seeing all the plots of the Narragansets were always discovered, he said they would let us alone till they had destroyed Uncas, and him, and then they with the Mowquaks and Mowhakues and the Indians beyond the Dutch, and all the Northern and Eastern Indians, would easily destroy us, man and mother's son. This have I informed the Governors of these parts, but all in vain; for, I see they have done as those of Wethersfield, not regarding till they were impelled to it by blood, and thus we may be sure of the fattest of the flock are like to go first, if not altogether, and then it will be too late to read Jer. xxv.—for drink we shall if the Lord be not the more merciful to us for our extreme pride, and base security, which, cannot but stink before the Lord; and we may expect this, that if there should be war again, between England and Holland our friends at the Dutch and our Dutch Englishmen would prove as true to us now, as they were, when the fleet came out of England; but no more of that, a word to the wise is enough.

“And now I am old, I would fain die a natural death, or like a soldier in the field with honor, and not to have a sharp stake set in the ground and thrust into my fundament, and to have my skin flayed off by piece meal, and cut in pieces and bits, and my flesh roasted and thrust down my throat, as these people have done, and I know will be done to the chiefest in the country by hundreds, if God should deliver us into their hands, as justly he may for our sins.

“I going over to Neantecut upon the eastern end of Long Island, upon some occasion that I had there, I found four Narragansets there, talking with the Sachem and his old counsellors. I asked an Indian what they were? He said that they were Narragansets, and that one Miantinomie [Miantunnomoh] a Sachem. What came they for? said I. He said he knew not for they talked secretly; so I departed to another wigwam. Shortly after came the Sachem Waiandance to me and said, Do you know what these came for? No said I; then he said, They say I must give no more wampum to the English, for they are no Sachems, nor none of their children shall be in their place if they die; and they have no tribute given them; there is but one King in England who is over them all, and if you would send him 100,000 fathom of wampum, he would not give you a knife for it nor thank you. And I said to them, Then they will come and kill us all, as they did the Pequits; then they said No, the Pequits gave them wampum and beaver, which they loved so well, but they sent it them again, and killed them because they had killed an Englishman; but you have killed none, therefore, give them nothing. Now friend tell me what I shall say to them for one of them is a great man. Then, said I, Tell them that you must go first to the farther end of Long Island and speak with all the rest and a month hence you will give them an answer. Mean time you may go to Mr Haines, and he will tell you what to do, and I will write all this now, in my book, that I have here; and so he did, and the Narragansets departed, and this Sachem came to me, at my house, and I wrote this matter to Mr Haines and he went up with it to Mr Haines, who forbid him to give anything to the Narragansets, and writ to me so. And, when they came again they came by my Island, and I knew them to be the same men; and I told them they might go home again and I gave them Mr Haynes his letter for Mr Williams to read, to the Sachem. So they returned back again, for I had said to them that if they would go to Mantacut, I would go likewise with them, and that Long Island must not give wampum to Narraganset.

“ A while after this, came Miantenomie from Block Island to Mantacut, with a troop of men. Waiandance being not at home; and, instead of receiving presents, which they used to do, in their progress, he gave them gifts, calling them brethren and friends, for so are we all Indians, as the English are, and they say brother to one another; so must we be one as they are otherwise we shall be all gone shortly, for you know our fathers had plenty of deer and skins, our plains were full of deer, as also our woods and of turkies and our coves full of fish and fowl. But these English having gotten our land, they with scythes cut down the grass and, with axes fell the trees; their cows and horses eat the grass, and their hogs spoil our clam banks, and we shall be starved; therefore it is best for you to do as we; for we are all the Sachems from East to West both Moquakues and Mohauks joining with us and we are all resolved to fall upon them all, at one appointed day; and therefore I am come to you privately, first, because you can persuade the Indians and Sachems to what you will, and I will send over fifty Indians to Block Island, and thirty to you from thence, and take an hundred of Southampton Indians, with an hundred of your own here; and when you see the three fires that will be made forty days hence, in a clear night, then do as we, and the next day fall on and kill men, women, and children, but no cows for they will serve to eat till our deer be increased again. And our old men thought it was well. So the Sachem came home and had but little talk with them, yet, he was told there had been a secret consultation between the old men and Miantenomie, but, they told him nothing in three days. So he came over to me and acquainted me with the manner of the Narragansets being there with his men, and asked me what I thought of it; and I told him that the Narraganset Sachem was naught to talk with his men secretly in his absence, and I bid him go home and told him a way how he might know all, and then he should come and tell me; and so he did, and found all out as is above written, and I sent intelligence of it over to Mr Haynes and Mr Eaton; but, because my boat was gone from home, it was 15 days before they had any letter, and Miantenomie was gotten home before they had news of it. And the old men when they saw how I and the Sachem had beguiled them, and that he was come over to me, they sent secretly a canoe over in a moon-shine night, to Narraganset, to tell them all was discovered; so this plot failed blessed be God and the plotter, next spring after, died as Ahab died at Ramoth Gil-ead.—So he to Mohegin, and there had his fall.

“Two years after this, Ninechratt sent over a captain of his who acted in every point as the former; him the Sachem took and bound and brought him to me, and I wrote the same to Governor Eaton, and sent an Indian that was my servant and had lived four years with me; him, with nine more, I sent to carry him to New Haven, and gave them food for ten days. But the wind hindered them at Plumb Island; then they went to Shelter Island, where the old Sachem dwelt—Waiandance’s elder brother, and in the night they let him go only my letter they sent to New Haven, and thus these two plots were discovered; but now my friend and brother is gone who will now do the like?

“But if the premises be not sufficient to prove Waiandance a true friend to the English, for some may say he did all this out of malice to the Pequits and Narragansets; now I shall prove the like with respect to the Long Islanders, his own men. For I being at Mantacut, it happened that for an old grudge of a Pequit, who was put to death at Southampton, being known to be a murderer, and for this his friends bear a spite against the English. So as it came to pass at that day I was at Mantacut a good honest woman was killed by them at Southampton, but, it was not known then who did this murder. And the brother of this Sachem was Shinacock. Sachem could or would not find it out. At that time Mr Gosmore and Mr Howell, being magistrates, sent an Indian to fetch the Sachem thither; and, it being in the night, I was laid down when he came and being a great cry amongst them, upon which all the men gathered together, and, the story being told, all of them said the Sachem should not, for said they they will either bind you or kill you, and then us, both men, women and children; therefore let your brother find it out, or let them kill you and us, we will live and die together. So there was a great silence for a while and then the Sachem said, Now you have all done I will hear what my friend will say, for [he] knows what they will do. So they waked me as they thought, but I was not asleep, and told me the story, but I made strange of the matter and said, If the Magistrates have sent for you why do you not go? They will bind me or kill me saith he. I think so said I if you have killed the woman, or know of it and did not reveal it; but you were here and did it not. But was any of your Mantauket Indians there to day? They all answered not a man these two days, for we have inquired concerning that already. Then said I, did none of you ever hear any Indian say he would kill English? No said they all; then I said, I shall not go home till to morrow, though I thought to have been gone so soon as the Moon was gone up, but I will stay here till you all know it is well with your Sachem; if they bind him, bind me, and if they kill him kill me. But then you must find out him that did the murder and all that know of it, them they will have and no more. Then they with a great cry thanked me, and I wrote a small note, with the Sachem, that they should not stay him long in their hands but let him eat and drink and be gone, for he had his way before him. So they did and that night he found out four that were consenters to it, and knew of it, and brought them to them at Southampton and they were all hanged, at Hartford, whereof one of these was a great man among them, commonly called the Blue Sachem.

“A further instance of his faithfulness is this; about the Pequit war time one William Hamman [Hammond] of the Bay, killed by a Giantlike Indian towards the Dutch. I heard of it and told Waiandancee, that he must kill him or bring him to me; but he said it was not his brother's mind, and he is the Great Sachem of all Long Island, likewise the Indian is a Mighty Great man, and no man durst meddle with him, and hath many friends. So this rested until he had killed another one Thomas Farrington. After this the old Sachem died, and I spake to this Sachem again about it, and he answered, He is so cunning that when he hears that I come that way a hunting, that his friends tell him and then he is gone. But I will go at some time when no body knows of it, and then I will kill him;—and so he did—and this was the last act which he did for us, for in the time of a great mortality among them he died, but it was by poison; also two-thirds of the Indians upon Long Island died else the Narragansets had not made such havock here as they have, and might not help them.—And this I have written, chiefly, for our good that we might consider what danger we are all in, and, also to declare to the country, that we had found an heathen, yea, an Indian, in this respect to parallel the Jewish Mordecai. But now I am at a stand for all we English would be thought and called Christians; yet though I have seen this before spoken, having been there twenty four years, in the mouth of the premises yet I know not where to find, or whose name to insert to parallel. Ahasuerus lying on his bed and could not sleep, and called for the chronicles to be read; and when he heard Mordecai named, said, what hath been done for him? But who will say as he said, or do answerable to what he did? But our New England twelve-penny chronicle is stuffed with a catalogue of the names of some as if they had deserved immortal fame; but the right New England military worthies are left out for want of room as Maj. Mason, Capt. Undrill, [Underhill,] Lieut. Sielly, [Seeley,] and who undertook the desperate way and design to Mistick Fort, and killed 300 burnt the fort, and took many prisoners, though they are not once named. But honest Abram thought it no shame to name the confederates that helped him to war, when he redeemed his brother Lot; but Uneas of Mistick, and Waiandancee at the Great Swamp and ever since your trusty friend, is forgotten, and for our sakes persecuted to this day with fire and sword, and Ahasuerus of New England is still asleep, and if there be any like to Ahasuerus, let him remember what glory to God and honor to our Nation hath followed their wisdom and valor. Awake! awake Ahasuerus, if there be any of thy seed or spirit here, and let not Haman destroy us as he hath done our Mordecai. And, although there hath been much bloodshed, in these parts, among us, God and we know it came not by us. But if all must drink of this cup that is threatened, then shortly the King of Sheshaek shall drink last, and tremble and fall when our pain will be past. Oh that I were in the countries again, that in their but twelvè year truce, repaired cities and towns made strong forts and prepared all things, needful against a time of war like Solomon. I think the soil hath almost infected me but what they or our enemies will do, hereafter, I know not. I hope I shall not live so long to hear or see it, for I am old and out of date, else I might be in fear to see and hear that, I think, will ere long come upon us.

“ Thus far our tragical story, now to the comedy. When we were at supper in the great hall they (the Pequits) gave us alarm to draw us out three times before we could finish our short supper, for we had but little to eat, but you know that I would not go out; the reason you know. 2ndly. You Robert Chapman, you know that when you and John Bagley were beating samp at the Garden Pales, the sentinels called you to run in for there was a number of Pequits creeping to you to catch you; I hearing it went up to the redoubt and put two cross-bar shot into the two guns that lay above, and levelled them at the trees and boughs and gave order to John Frennd and his man to stand, with hand-spikes to turn them this or that way, as they should hear the Indians shout, for they should know my shout from theirs, for it should be very short. Then I called six men, and the dogs, and went out running to the place, and keeping all abreast in sight close together. And when I saw my time I said, stand! and called all to me saying, Look on me; and when I hold up my hand, then shout as loud as you can, and when I hold down my hand then leave; and so they did. Then the Indians began a long shout, and then went off the two great guns and tore the limbs of the trees about their ears so that divers of them were hurt, as may yet appear, for you told me when I was up at Hartford this present year '60 in the month of September, that there is one of them lyeth above Harford, that is fain to creep on all fours, and we shouted once or twice more; but they would not answer us again, so we returned home laughing.

“ Another pretty prank we had with three great doors of ten feet long and four feet broad, being bored full of holes, and driven full of long nails, as sharp as awl blades, sharpened by Thomas Hurlburt. These we placed in certain places where they should come, fearing lest they should come in the night and fire our redoubt or battery and all the place, for we had seen their footing, where they had been in the night, when they shot at our sentinels, but could not lit them for the boards; and in a dry time and a dark night they came as they did before and found the way a little too sharp for them; and as they skipped from one they trod upon another, and left the nails and door dyed with their blood, which you know we saw the next morning laughing at it.

“ And this I write that young men may learn, if they should meet with such trials as we met with there, and have not opportunity to cut off their enemies; yet they may with such pretty pranks preserve themselves from danger—for policy is needful in war as well as strength.”

NOTE B.

THE following statement in regard to the lands of the Hon. Robert Chapman the settler, has been furnished by George H. Chapman, Esq., the youngest of the descendants of the fifth generation, who now occupies the Old Homestead, in Oyster River, Old Saybrook:

"The Original Homestead of Robert the settler, judging from the vague boundaries described in the lay-out, must have been a tract of four or five hundred acres. The features of the land are such that within the compass of such bounds, there are now thirty houses. The limits were, east on Oyster River, north on the Big Hill, west on the Little Hill, and south on the Sound or sea-shore. These are very natural boundaries, and encompass a tract fenced by a creek one hundred feet wide on the east, by the deep waters of Long Island Sound on the south, by a creek and ridge of high land on the west, and by a steep hill from fifty to one hundred feet, abrupt rise, on the north. The spot was well chosen, being a perfectly level tract of good soil, no where elevated much above the sea, and abounding with the purest water by sinking wells ten or twelve feet. His first house was built about in the center of this tract of level land, from which a few minutes' walk would bring him to the shore, stored with shell-fish of all kinds, and which, to this day, yields thousands of bushels yearly. The creeks at that day must have been replete with plenty of salmon and shad. Many of the old pear and apple trees, of enormous growth, have been in full bearing within the memory of the writer, which were planted by Robert, our common ancestor. His favorite lot was an Indian settlement, disforested and cultivated by the natives, when first visited by him. The soil is now full of shells and arrow-heads, and remains of warriors have been disinterred in several instances. This lot is still in the family, and rented to the public in the seasons for surf-bathing and sea-shore recreations, being fitted up for that purpose. It is, indeed, a most desirable place to visit in warm weather, having in front, a space of about one hundred acres of strand, which at low water is bare, and forms hard and safe riding ground, and at high tide is covered equally over the whole space, with about four feet of water, pure from the ocean, without a spot in the whole tract where the most timid could get beyond a safe footing. From a gallery, erected on the shore, a view of over sixty miles may be had up and down Long Island Sound; that is, large ships may be seen distinctly, thirty miles each way. Such was the resting-place of our Grand Progenitor. His youngest son, Nathanael, succeeded to the domicile, and died in the first house. His grandson Caleb was also born and died under the first roof, having rebuilt the house in 1740, covering the same in part, with the old roof boards. His great-grandson Elisha was born in the rebuilt house the same year, and died at the same spot in June, 1825, aged nearly eighty-five years. His great-great-grandson George Henry was born in the same mansion in 1789, and by the grace of God, is still living, aged sixty-five. Each son has been at the deathbed of his father, and buried him out of sight, and administered upon his affairs. Through this long line of ancestry and space of time, each hung upon his father's lips, receiving the legends of the family, nothing doubting. George H. made his father's house his home thirty-five years, until the decease of his father Elisha, and never heard any variations in the traditions handed down. Elisha never had any other house, until the age of forty-four, but his father Caleb's house; was taken care of by his grandmother, the wife of Nathanael, until the age of ten, and doubtless remembered the account of Robert, directly from her. She, very probably, was acquainted with the first settler himself, or must have heard his history directly from her husband, Nathanael. When it is considered how much interest all reflecting minds take in the place of their births, and more especially, when every spot where they have lived, called home, must have been familiar to a long line of ancestry, and the almost unbroken communication of one to another, from the present time, back to the emigration of the first settler from the father-land, two hundred and twenty years ago, there remains not a doubt in the writer's mind, but the story so often told for so long a time, so true to itself, is a correct tradition, that our common ancestor was a citizen of Hull, Yorkshire, England, and left that city at the age of eighteen years; that his father was a soap manufacturer by trade, in that city, and that he had a brother, who perished in the wars in Flanders.'

“An agreement made among the heirs of Capt. John Chapman late of Haddam deceased.

“Know all men by these presents. That we Joseph Chapman of Say-Brook, in the County of New London, and Colony of Connecticut, and Jabez Chapman, of East Haddam, in the Colony of Hartford and County abovesaid and Samuel Chapman of the abovesaid Haddam, the only natural sons now surviving of Capt John Chapman, late of the abovesaid Haddam, deceased, and Stephen Chalker of the abovesaid Say-Brook and Joseph Selden of Lyme, in the County of New London, and colony abovesaid, Son's in Law to the abovesaid Capⁿ John Chapman deceased, by affinity with his three daughters, Elisabeth, Anne & Mehetable Chapman and Lydia Chapman of the aboves¹ Haddam, Do here by declare that forasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God, in his holy providence, to take from us our aged and Honored Father Cap¹ John Chapman aboves^d deceased, and, having left behind him a considerable estate, in lands, goods and chattels to be disposed of, all his just and lawful debts being hereby secured to be paid. We whose names above written being the true and lawful heirs to all and every part of s¹ estate both real and personal, Do hereby for ourselves our heirs and successors, mutually and firmly agree in the distribution of or dividing the whole of said Inheritance in manner and form following,

“ 1^v That our Loving brother, Joseph Chapman, shall stand firmly possessed of that which formerly was given him by a deed of gift from our Honored Father in his life time as by the said Deed will now fully appear. Moreover we do hereby covenant and agree that our brother Joseph Chapman shall possess and enjoy the remainder of a piece of upland and meadow, that is not already disposed off, belonging to the estate of our Honored Father, within the bounds of the abovesaid Say-Brook lying upon the East Side of Oyster River, near the lower end of that meadow. Also a tract of land within the boundaries of said Say-Brook about Seventy acres, be it more or less, Lying Westward from said Town platt about six miles, as also a two hundred pound right in the commons or undivided lands in said Say-Brook, all which land and right shall be to the sole use and behoof of the said Joseph Chapman, his heirs and assigns forever.

“ 2¹ We do unanimously agree and hereby declare that our brother, Stephen Chalker, shall stand firmly possessed, of an hundred right in the commons or undivided lands with in the township of sai¹ Say-Brook and the moveable estate he was formerly possess^d of at his marriage. As also thirty acres of upland, lying in the township of the above said Haddam, on the East side of the Great River, to be measured off the East end of the three hundred acres belonging to the estate of our Honored father, as abovesaid, on the South side of the high-way that runs through the said lands, all which land and right & moveables shall be to the only proper use and behoof of the s^d Stephen Chalker his heirs and assigns forever. Moreover we the said Jabez & Samuel Chapman do hereby engage to pay to the said Chalker, or his assigns, the full and just sum of twelve pounds and ten shillings, at or before the expiration of six years, next ensuing the date hereof, That is to say the said Jabez to pay four pounds ten shillings of current silver money, and Samuel to pay eight pounds of current silver money, and to give sufficient security, to the s¹ Chalker, for the payment of the said money according to the terms afore mentioned, which with the abovesaid land, right and moveables, is the whole of the part or portion belonging to said Chalker out of said estate.

“ 3 We agree that the above mentioned Joseph Selden and Lemuel Richardson, shall, each of them, enjoy, and stand firmly possess^d of what moveable estate they were formerly possessed of, by gift from our Father, in his life time; moreover we do hereby covenant and agree that the s^d Selden and Richardson shall each of them have thirty acres of land, measured off and laid out to them, at the East End of the three hundred acres, above mentioned, on the South side of the Highway in Haddam bounds on the East side, all which said lands & moveables, shall be to the only proper use and behoof of the s^d Selden and Richardson, their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, forever. Moreover we, the said Jabez and Samuel Chapman, do hereby engage to pay, or cause to be paid to the abovesaid Joseph Selden and Lemuel Richardson or their assigns the full and just sum of twenty-five pounds of current silver money, at or before the expiration of six years, next ensuing the date hereof, that is to say twelve pounds ten shillings to said Selden and twelve pounds ten shillings to said Richardson, the said Samuel Chapman to pay eight pounds of the above mentioned sum, to said Selden and eight pounds of the above mentioned sum to the said Richardson, the said Jabez Chapman to pay four pounds ten shillings to said Selden and four pound ten shillings to the said Richardson according to the terms above mentioned, which with the above mentioned lands and moveables is the whole of their part or portion in said estate.

“4th, We agree that our Sister, Lydia Chapman, shall have ten pounds out of the moveable estate at Inventory price, to be paid her, upon her demand, after the estate is settled; moreover we do hereby covenant and agree to and with the said Lydia Chapman, that she, the said Lydia, shall have thirty acres of land measured off and laid out to her at the east end of the above-mentioned three hundred acres of Land, on the South side of the Highway, in Haddam bounds; moreover we the said Jabez and Samuel Chapman do hereby covenant and agree to and with the said Lydia Chapman to pay, unto the said Lydia, the full and just sum of twelve pounds ten shillings Silver Money; that is to say, said Samuel to pay eight pounds, at or before the expiration of six years, and said Jabez to pay four pounds ten shillings silver money, at or before the expiration of six years, next ensuing, the date hereof which together with above-mentioned Lands and moveables is the part or portion belonging to the said Lydia.

“5th, We agree that the said Samuel Chapman shall stand firmly possessed of a certain tract of land, formerly belonging to the estate of our Honored Father, lying and being in Haddam bounds, on the East side of the Great River, it being part of the above mentioned three hundred acres on the north side of the aforementioned high-way, containing, by estimation, six-score acres, be it more or less, and bounded by the said High-way on the South, by the lands of William Seymour on the West side, by the parsonage lands on the North, and by the great highway on the East. Moreover it is agreed that the said Samuel shall have a thousand acre right of Lands in Hebron, (memorandum the said Samuel is to have all that is our Fathers at Hebron,) and half the meadow lying by the Great River, that is to say on the East side of the Great River, in Haddam bounds, that is to say between the upland and said River; a line drawn from a white oak-tree, standing on the bank by the River, a little below the Island, and marked, on two sides, across the meadow to the upland is & shall be the dividing line between the said Jabéz & Samuel Chapman, the lower part to be the said Samuel's, on both sides of the creek. Moreover the said Samuel is to have, by virtue of this agreement, a pair of three year old steers, a horse and a gun and soldiers wages, which with the aforementioned lands & right of lands, shall be to the only proper use and behoof of the said Samuel Chapman, his heirs and assigns, forever, and is the whole of his part or portion of said estate.

“Lastly, we do unanimously agree that our brother, Jabez Chapman, shall have hold and enjoy the dwelling house formerly belonging to our Honored Father in the above-mentioned Haddam on the East side with the Orchard & barn, and fifty acres of Land adjoining, as also the other half of the above-mentioned meadow, lying between the above said Divident line and the Creek, by the house; moreover the said Jabez is to have, by this agreement, the residue of the three hundred acres aforementioned, that is not disposed of, by this agreement. Moreover, it is hereby agreed that the said Jabez shall have the Corn mill, with all the tools that belong to it, together with all the moveables that belong to the said estate, (the ten pounds excepted;) together with all the Rights and privileges belonging to the said estate, and also the credits, and a two hundred pound Right, in commons or undivided lands in the Township of Say-Brook. Also, We agree that the said Jabez shall have the Island commonly called by the name of twenty mile Island. Moreover whatsoever estate either real or personal that shall hereafter appear to belong to the estate of our Honored Father as aforesaid deceased, it shall together with all the lands, housing, rights of Lands, mill, goods, chattels, credits, be and continue to be, to the sole proper use and behoof of the said Jabez Chapman, his heirs executors administrators & assigns forever, Moreover, it is hereby agreed upon; the said Jabez with the approbation of the Honored Court of Probate is chosen to administer upon said estate, and to pay all the just & Lawfull Debts due from the said estate, out of his own part of the estate, the rest of his heirs to be freed from all intanglements whatsoever.

“Memorandum. It was and is hereby agreed on, that the above-mentioned Joseph Chapman is to have an hundred pound right more than what was mentioned before, in Oyster River Quarter, in the Township of Say-Brook. And for the full and clear perfecting of the above-written agreement, and all the particulars thereof, we the parties, above-named, have hereunto set our hands and seals this 28th day of March in the year of our Lord 1712.

NOTE D.

SETTLEMENT OF THE ESTATE OF MR. ROBERT CHAPMAN, SECOND SON OF CAPT. ROBERT CHAPMAN.

In volume first of New London Probate Records, page 101, is found the following entry.

“Dec. 11th 1711. This court grants power of administration to Mary Chapman & Mr Samuel Chapman, both of Say-Brook, on the goods chattels & credits of Robert Chapman Esq^r, late of sd Say-Brook deceased, and this court do name & appoint Mr Nathanael Lynde or Mr Daniel Taylor, of Say-Brook, justices of Quorum, to administer the oath to the said Mrs Mary Chapman to the Inventory of her deceased husband's estate.”

In the same volume, page 109, under date of March 15, 1711-12, is the following entry.

“An Inventory of the estate of Mr Robert Chapman, late of Say-Brook deceased, was exhibited in this court, proved, accepted and ordered to be recorded.

“Benjamin Chapman one of the Sons of Mr Robert Chapman, late of Say-Brook deceased, made choice of his honored mother, Mrs Mary Chapman widow and relict of s^l deceased, for his guardian, which appears under ye hand of Daniel Taylor Justice of Quorum; this Court admits and accepts thereof, she giving bonds for the faithful discharge of her duty therein.

“Mrs Mary Chapman abovesaid, and Ephraim Bushnell of Say-Brook, acknowledge themselves bound, joyntly and severally, in the Court of Probate in the County of New London the full and just sum of £200, current money of New England, that the abovesaid Mary Chapman shall, as guardian to the said Benjamin Chapman, be true and faithful according to law.

“Abigail Chapman, daughter of Mr Robert Chapman, late of Say-Brook deceased, as appears by a certificate from Daniel Taylor, Justice of Quorum, made choice of her brother, Mr Samuel Chapman, of Say-Brook, for her guardian; this court allows and accepts thereof provided ye said Samuel Chapman give bonds for his faithful discharge of his duty therein.

“Samuel Chapman, aforementioned, and Thomas Merrill of Say-Brook acknowledge themselves, jointly and severally, bound in a recognition of £200 current money of New-England, that the said Samuel Chapman shall, as guardian for Abigail Chapman aforesaid, be just and faithful according to law.

“Mrs Mary Chapman and Mr Samuel Chapman administratrix and administrator, on the estate of Mr Robert Chapman late of Say-Brook deceased, presented to this court an account of their administration under their hands, which is on file, there being the sum of £13, 8s. 4d., in disbursement, to be taken out of the sum of the Inventory, which leaves of the Inventoried estate for distribution as followeth.

“To the widow one third part of the real estate during life, £161, 10s. 2*d.* and one third part of the personal estate forever, being £41, 12s. 10*d.* To the Eldest Son £8, 10s. 6½*d.*, which with £208, 11s. 3*d.*, that he had of his father in his life time makes him a double portion. To Robert £23, 17s. 2¼*d.* which with £85 18s. 2*d.* he had of his Father in his life time, makes him a single portion. To Francis £51 18s. 4¼*d.* which with £57 10s. he had of his father in his life time, makes him a single portion. And to Benjamin and Abigail £109 15s. 4¼*d.* a piece being single portions, and this court appoints Mr Nathanael Chapman, Lieu't Abraham Chalker and Mr Daniel Buckingham, of Say-Brook, to divide the said estate according to this declaration, and all further charge in the division to be payed by those the estate is distributed to in proportion to what they are to receive. And Mr Nathanael Lynde or Mr Daniel Taylor, Justices & Quorum, are desired to give them their oaths.

RICHARD CHRISTOPHERS Esq. Judge.

NATHANIEL CHAPMAN.
ABRAHAM CHALKER.

Say-Brook this 10th day of March 1711-12. Then and there personally appeared Nathanael Chapman and Abraham Chalker, appraisers to the foregoing estate and made oath to the truth thereof according to their best judgment and understanding before me, DANIEL TAYLOR, Justice.

Lyme this 11th day of March, 1711-12. Mrs. Mary Chapman of Say-brook personally appeared and, upon oath to this inventory, that was given in by her, that it is true and what shall afterward appear it shall be added. Before me JOSEPH PECK, Justice.

Mrs. Mary Chapman, widow and relict of Mr Robert Chapman late of Say-Brook deceased, appeared in a Court of Probate, held in New London, March 15th, 1711-12 and made solemn oath that she gave in unto the appraisers a true account of the estate of her said deceased husband, and if anything hereafter appear to be his estate, in the consideration, she will add it to this inventory.

NOTE E.

SETTLEMENT OF THE ESTATE OF DEACON NATHANAEL CHAPMAN, THIRD AND YOUNGEST SON OF CAPT. ROBERT CHAPMAN.

The following entries are found in the Probate records at Guilford:

At a Court of Probate held in Guilford May 3d 1726

James Hooker Esq Judge

Samuel Hill Clerk.

Hannah Chapman, Executrix of the Last Will and Testament of Deac Nathanael Chapman, late of Say-brook deceased, exhibited said will, which being proved, was approved in Court and ordered to be recorded, and the said Executrix accepted the trust, therein committed to her. John Chapman one of the executors, being present declared that for the present, he did not see cause to accept nor refuse ye trust by the said will committed to him.

In the name of God Amen, the 7th day of January, 1725-6, I Nathanael Chapman of Say-Brook, in the county of New London and colony of Connecticut, in New England, husbandman, being aged and under bodily weakness and infirmities, but, yet of sound mind and memory, thanks be given unto God therefor, calling to mind the mortality of my body, and, knowing that 'it is appointed for all men once to die,' and concluding my departure is at hand, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament. Principally, and first of all, I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, hoping for acceptance through Jesus Christ. And my body I order to be buried in a decent Christian manner, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the General Resurrection, I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate, wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner, and form; my just debts and funeral charges being first paid out of my personal estate.

“ Imprimis, I give and bequeath to Hannah, my dearly beloved wife, one third part of my personal estate forever (except what is hereafter excepted.) I do also give unto her the use and improvement of one third part of my housing and land, at Oyster River, on the south side of the country road, bounded north on the country road, east by the land of Samuel Chapman and Joseph Chapman, south on the sea and Hagar's Creek, from thence running northward to the Head of said Creek, then eastward by the land and meadow of Joseph Chapman and Joshua Bushnell, during her widowhood.

“ Item, I give and bequeath to my son Nathanael all the remainder of my farm at Cook's Hill lying on both sides of the country road, part of which I have before given him by deed of gift, and also all that parcel of my meadow, on the west side of Hagar's creek, between the creek and the sea, running westward to the meadow of Thomas Norton (except two acres hereafter disposed of) together with the privilege of carting his hay from the meadow, through that part of my land called the South field, at such time and place as may least damage the improvement of said field, all which I give to him his heirs and assigns forever.

“ Item, I having already given to my son Daniel Chapman fifteen hundred acres right, in the Township of Hebron, and also a fifty pound right in the Oyster River Quarter, I do now also give him the whole of my divisions of land, already laid out at the Head or branches of Deep River, in Oyster River Quarter in Say-Brook abovesaid and also a division of thirty acres agreed on to be laid out in Oyster River and all my right in the undivided land in Pattaconk creek, and two acres of my meadow on the West side of Hagar's creek, said two acres to be taken off at that end of the meadow, next to the mouth of said creek, together with the privilege of carting from said meadow, as is above granted to my son Nathanael.

“ Item, I give and bequeath to my son John Chapman all my lands both upland and meadow, at or near a place called and known by the name of Treacle Hill, in Say-Brook, lying on both sides of the country road. I also give him all my meadow at poehaug in Say-Brook, near the Island called the Hawk's-nest, and having already given him a fifty pound right more making up his right one hundred pounds, I also give him one feather bed and bolster, one pillow, two blankets, two pair of sheets, my biggest gun or musket and my harrow with iron tooth.

“Item, I give and bequeathe to my son Caleb Chapman, all my houseing and laud both upland and meadow, at Oyster River in Say-Brook aforesaid, on the South side of the country road, bounded East by the land of Samuel Chapman and Joseph Chapman, South on the sea and Hagar's Creek, then running by the Creek to the Head of it, then running Eastward by this meadow and upland of Joseph Chapman and Joshua Bushnell, reserving only the use of one third part of the aforesaid lands and housing for my wife during her widowhood. I also give him all my land, in the Great orchard, and all my land at Clapboard Hill in said Say-Brook, and a fifty pound right in the Oyster River Quarter, all which estate I give him freely to enjoy forever with this proviso or consideration, viz. that he pay or cause to be paid, to his sisters, the several legacies which I shall in an instrument hereafter order. I also give to my son Caleb one yoke of oxen and Irons, one chain one scythe and tackling one ax and howe and my small gun and sword.

“Item, I give to my daughter Mary, one half of my land at a place called Old Iron Mine Plain, in Say-Brook, which I value at forty pounds, and, having already given her, the value of fifty-four pounds. I do now give her six pounds to be paid her by my son Caleb, within a year after my decease, which will make up her portion one hundred pounds.

“Item, I give to my daughter Hannah, the other half of my land at the Old Iron Mine Plain, which I value to her at forty pounds. I also give unto her the money which is due unto me by bond from John Bushnell, together with the interest thereof. I do also give unto her such a part of my personal estate as shall (at the price it shall be valued at in the Inventory of my estate) make up her portion the full sum of one hundred pounds.

“Item, I give and bequeath, to my daughter Anne, all the residue of my personal estate, which is not otherwise particularly disposed of in this will, which she is to receive at the price it shall be valued at, when apprized according to law. And I do hereby order my son Caleb to pay unto her such a sum as shall make up her portion one hundred pounds, one half of which sum I order him to pay her, when she shall arrive at the age of eighteen years, the other half when she shall accomplish the age of twenty-one years.

“Item, I give unto my four sons, before named, all my wearing apparel, to be equally divided between them.

“Item, I give to my wife the use of my Great Bible during her life and after her decease I give it to my son Nathanael.

“Lastly, I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint my dearly beloved wife Hannah & my two sons, Nathanael Chapman and John Chapman, to be executrix and executors of this my Last Will and Testament, and I do hereby utterly disallow, revoke, and disannul all former testaments, wills, legacies or bequests, whatsoever, by me made or written, ratifying this, and this only as my Last Will and Testament. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year above written Signed sealed published and delivered by the Testator to be his Last Will and Testament in presence of us.

John Burrows
John Bushnell
James Jordan

Having before by word of mouth given to my son Nathanael Chapman one hundred pound right in Oyster River Quarter I do hereby ratify and confirm it unto him
NATHANAEL CHAPMAN (a seal.)

“ Hannah Chapman Executrix of the Last Will and Testament of Deacon Nathanael Chapman, late of Say-Brook deceased, exhibited an Inventory of s^r deceased's estate, which was approved in court and ordered to be recorded.

A BRIEF OUTLINE OF THE LIFE OF DR. TIMOTHY M. COOLEY, D. D., OF GRANVILLE, MASS., WHO MARRIED CONTENT CHAPMAN.

[See No. 131.]

“TIMOTHY MATHER COOLEY, D. D., was born at Granville, Mass., March 13, 1773, and was the seventh in descent from Benjamin Cooley of Springfield, and seventh in maternal descent from Rev. Richard Mather of Dorchester. At the age of five years, (in 1778,) he was dangerously sick and given over by physicians. A brother and sister died of the same fever, in one week, and his father at the burial of the latter, looked out a place for another grave, which he supposed would soon be needed for this son. By the blessing of God on the care and simple means used by a pious mother, he was, after many weeks restored to health. This incident gave a shape to his whole future course of life. Being left in frail health, for some years, he was led to form habits of great simplicity in diet, and instead of meats and condiments a simple bowl of milk, with fruit and bread, has through life, formed the principal meal, and he was never confined to his room by sickness, one day, till he had passed the age of fourscore years.

“At the age of twelve, being intensely anxious for an education, he procured a grammar and commenced the study of the Latin language without a teacher. His father despairing of seeing him a robust farmer, as he intended, committed him to a private teacher; and, in 1788, he entered Yale College and was graduated with honors in 1792. After graduation he taught a Select School one year, in New Haven, and one in Litchfield. He studied Theology with Rev. Charles Backus, D. D., of Somers, and was licensed in May, 1795, by the Association of New Haven County, and preached the first Sabbath thereafter in his native place of Granville, and then, by previous arrangement, the ensuing summer, in Salisbury, Conn. Receiving a call from both churches, that from Granville was accepted, and he was ordained Feb. 3d, 1796, in a place which had been, for twenty years a moral waste. On May 6, 1796, he was connected in marriage with Content Chapman, only child of Isaac Chapman, who fell in the War of the Revolution, when this daughter was only six months old.

"East Granville, though a barren waste for years, by the blessing of God on his own institutions, became a faithful field. During the fifty-eight years which have intervened since the settlement of Dr. Cooley, the church has been blessed with ten precious Revivals of Religion. In 1798, there were seventy hopeful conversions and the Church was doubled. In 1816, especially, in the Bible Class, when there were eighty hopeful conversions. In 1823, was a revival which commenced on New Year's eve, in connexion with a Literary exercise in the School, which resulted in twenty-three hopeful conversions.

"Other harvest seasons have been granted, of greater or more limited extent. Besides the supervision of common schools as town committee for forty-eight years and of Higher Institutions, the greater part of the time, as many as eight hundred pupils received instruction from his lips, of whom more than sixty became ministers of the gospel, against none of whom has there been a report of heresy or immorality. Not a few of his pupils have been members of Congress, Judges, Officers in Colleges and other high places of usefulness. The number of sermons preached by him are about 8,000, having attended about 1,500 Bible Class Lessons."

Dr. Cooley has been somewhat distinguished as an author. Publications of his, more than sixty in number, though mostly brief, have come from the press. Among which are the following.

In 1794. "Stanzas on the Death of the Printer's Lovely Child." Poem, "The African Slave." "Plea for the Bible," published in Buell & Collins' Paper, at Litchfield.

In 1800, "An Historical Sermon."

In 1802, "Narrative of the Revival in 1798." (Conn. Evangelical Magazine, Vol. II.)

In 1805, "Sermon at the Organization of the Church to settle in Granville, Ohio."

In 1808, "Sermon before the Hampshire Missionary Society."

In 1810, "A Sermon at the Funeral of Nancy Tinker, a child that died in triumph, and Sermon at the Funeral of Abner De Wolfe, of Williams College."

In 1811. "Sermon on the death of Homer Moore, Esq. Sermon at the Ordination of Rev. Elisha Cooke of East Hartford."

In 1817. "Sermon before the Hampden Bible and Foreign Mission Society.

In 1818. "A Narrative of the State of Religion before the General Association of Mass. Also a Narrative before the Same Body in 1822 and 1825, and a Pastoral Address in 1819."

In 1824. "A Sermon at the Funeral of Louisa M. Cooley, a child of great interest and promise." Also Sermon at the Funeral of Curtis P. Baker, son of Rev. Joel Baker, and a student at Andover."

In 1833. "A memoir of Mary West, a Sabbath Scholar," published in a small volume by the Mass. Sab. School Society.

In 1836. "Memoir of Rev. Lemuel Haynes the Colored Preacher."

In 1844. Two letters "On Permanency in the Pastoral Office."

In 1845. "Addresses at the Jubilee in Granville," a small volume.

In 1853. "Funeral Sermon on the deaths of Mr. Joseph and Mrs. Abigail Brown," and also "A dedication Sermon at Becket, Mass." "Dr. Cooley is now (April, 1854) eighty years of age, and still performs all the duties of his Pastorate with efficiency and to the acceptance of his people, among whom he has ministered about fifty-nine years. A rare example, retaining the full possession of his faculties, his eye not dimmed, nor his natural force obliterated."

"Sano Mens in Sano Corpore."

NOTE G.

THE LIFE OF REV. ROBERT H. CHAPMAN, D. D., (SEE NO. 823.) FURNISHED BY HIS SON, REV. ROBERT H. CHAPMAN, OF TALADEGA, ALABAMA.*

THE subject of this article was the second son of the Rev. Jedediah Chapman, a distinguished minister of the Presbyterian Church, and one of its Fathers in this country. His instrumentality in extending its stretch and influence, was marked and deep. His impress, especially in its missionary features, has been more abiding than that of most of his cotemporaries. He led the van as regards this noble enterprise, in the North-West; the Great Head of the Church blessed his efforts in a signal manner; for he lived to see whole Synods and nameless Presbyteries, serving God and his Church, where he had stood, the solitary pioneer of the General Assembly. The Rev. Jedediah Chapman was a native of East Haddam, Conn., and a graduate of Yale College in the class of 1762. He became a member of the Presbytery of New York, early in his ministry; soon the Pastor of the church of Orangedale, New Jersey. He continued there more than thirty years; after which he removed to Western New York, where he labored for thirteen years. He was the first Pastor of the church of Geneva, and the senior Pastor thereof, at the time of his death in 1814. His second son, the subject of this article, was born at Orangedale, N. J., March 2, 1771. His youth was passed amid the scenes of the Revolution, and almost upon its battle ground; for, as all persons familiar with Revolutionary history know, that portion of the state of New Jersey was strenuously contended for by the conflicting parties, and was sometimes within the lines of the one force and then of the other. Its proximity to New York, then in possession of the enemy, made it a point of warfare and of danger. The father of Dr. Chapman was devoted in his attachment to the interests of his country; was constant and unremitting in his efforts with his flock; and, doubtless, it was much owing to his personal and ministerial influence that, almost to a man, the congregation and church to which he ministered were decidedly whig, through the War of the Revolution. His father's family and their interest, were oftentimes in eminent peril, and the father himself was not unfrequently, compelled to retire from his family and flock, as, to the loyalists, he was peculiarly offensive, from the decision of his course and its influence upon those under his ministrations;—but these intervals were spent in strewing broadcast upon the human mind, the seeds of religious truth. Sometimes he was with the American army, as temporary chaplain, urging the citizen-soldier to be faithful to himself and true to his God and country; at other times, urging the same views in the farm-house, and amid the hills and valleys of that beautiful land. For this office and duty he was peculiarly fitted; these principles grew with his growth, himself the descendant of the Puritan, the blood of the Huguenot mingled in his veins; and long years, and for generation after generation, these principles had been fostered and encouraged, by deeds of daring and self-sacrifice, out of regard to principle and love for God's truth, which long marked his pious ancestry. Such a one it is difficult to enslave; with such a one, the rights of conscience are always sacred and dear. There are numerous family legends of his personal trials, high moral daring and narrow escapes from imminent danger, all of which evince his unswerving piety and deep devotedness to God and his church. They exhibit, too, his love to the race of man, and his deep devotion to his country's interests, advancement and honor. Blessed with such a parent and trained in such a school, the subject of this article grew up deeply imbued with these principles of benevolence, patriotism and piety. He was carefully educated, and at an early age, became the pupil of that devoted patriot and man of God, the learned Dr. John Witherspoon. He passed through his college course at Nassau Hall, with great credit, and was admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, at the early age of eighteen years. He graduated in 1789, and was the classmate of Drs. Hosack, Dickerson, and the Hon. Silas Wood, with whom he enjoyed an uninterrupted friendship during their long and brilliant career. It was a class, few in numbers, but possessed of fine powers and rich attainments, destined to exert a wide-spread influence in the respective spheres on which they entered and became engaged. From a youth, and during his college course, the subject of this article was remarked for his deep reverence for divine things, his high-toned morality, his purity and love of truth. After graduation, he returned to the home of his father, where he spent a year in judicious reading. His pathway of life was all unmarked, but he felt that he could not err, in storing his mind and disciplining his faculties; that he would thereby be the better prepared for the battle of life, whatever might be its sphere. During this year of quiet, unostentatious pursuit, his mind became deeply impressed with the subject of religion; the worth of the soul; its need of a Saviour, and the infinite righteousness which He alone can bestow. Such had been the purity of his life, such his preservation from outward sins, that partial friends deemed him one renewed in early childhood. His own mind was inclined to the same opinion, and to a resting on a conscience void of offense, and a life, to human view, at least, wholly blameless. This snare of the adversary (for in his case it was a snare) was torn asunder by the Spirit of God. His deep sleep was broken, and under the Spirit's teaching he beheld himself a lost and guilty sinner, ready to perish. His convictions of sin were deep and pungent; his sense of hardness of heart and deep defilement, acute; there was an abiding sense of the deep need of a better righteousness than his own; an appreciation of the Saviour's freeness and fullness, and an appreciation of Christ; a heart-felt reception of him in all his offices, and a yielding of the whole heart's trust, which betokened the setting of the Almighty's seal and the renewing of the Holy Ghost. From that hour there was with him no hesitation as to the path of duty—the avocation of his future life. He gave himself to the ministry of reconciliation, and when his good old father, willing to try his devotedness, or, it may be, swerved for the moment, from what was before his beloved son, spoke of the deep trials, abasement and sacrifice that then awaited the minister of Christ, the son replied in the language of the apostle, “Woe is me if I preach not the gospel.” That father and son have long been before the throne, and by eternity's clear light, have contrasted the sufferings, which were but for a moment, with the exceeding great reward which has, of grace, followed, and as they have drank of the Saviour's smile and feasted in the bliss that attends his presence, have, doubtless, praised the grace by which they were sweetly drawn to devote the energies of their early life to the ministry of reconciliation. The younger Chapman at once entered on his theological course, which was thorough and ample. After spending three years therein, he became connected with the College of New Brunswick, as an instructor, with a view, mainly, to the advantages of its extended library, in pursuing his theological studies. In 1793, he was licensed to preach the everlasting gospel, and embarked all his living energies in that soul-elevating and heart-consoling occupation, and for forty years he served the God of his fathers and of the church which he hath redeemed, in that high vocation. The seeds of truth, through his instrumentality, have been scattered far and wide. The cold north and the sunny south, have alike witnessed his labors of love, his deep devotedness, the fervency of his prayers, and the strenuousness of his efforts in winning souls back to holiness and God. Many, through his instrumentality, have been rescued from the thralldom of Satan. He has many spiritual sons who, as living ministers, are now throughout the length and breadth of this wide land, proclaiming from many a sanctuary, the unsearchable riches of Christ and his grace. The first pastoral charge of Dr. Chapman was taken at Rahway, N. J., where he labored profitably and assidnously. He became its pastor in 1796. The 14th of February, 1796, he married Miss Hannah Arnette, of Elizabethtown, N. J., with whom he lived in wedlock thirty-seven years. She was, emphatically, a pastor's wife, and greatly aided him in his labors of love and of Christian usefulness. For many years, Dr. Chapman was settled in the north, and was the Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cambridge, N. Y., where several of his children were born, and where his ministry was greatly blessed. The growth of the church, under his ministrations, was gradual yet constant. The writer has often heard him speak of the fact that God, in his goodness and grace, had so ordered it, that but one or two instances of sacramental service and of connecting with the church were, under his ministry, unimproved. More or less with every such opportunity, enrolled themselves soldiers of the cross. God did not leave himself without a witness of the power of his truth, and of the faithfulness of his servant. This, in a ministry of forty years, diligently and constantly pursued, is a most interesting fact, and one full of power and fraught with momentous results. The larger part of Dr. Chapman's labors in the north, were with the people of Cambridge; here was his most extended pastorate, and doubtless here was the most extended harvest of souls, under his instrumentality, in the north. Many a jewel was here gathered unto his Master's crown. For long periods of time the church was in a revival state. The largest number gathered into the church at any one time, was sixty-one. The seed was sown in tears and with fervent prayers; the gathering of the sheaves was with joy and rejoicing. But the Head of the Church had other purposes of love and grace, and profitable as was this connection to souls; pleasant and dear as were these spiritual ties, they were soon to be broken. In the year 1811, unsolicited on his part, and in fact, much to his surprise, he was unanimously elected President of the University of North Carolina, and warmly and earnestly solicited to take the charge thereof. This post of distinction and usefulness, was tendered him freely and without the agency of friends, and was accompanied with proofs of confidence, affection and high appreciation. The Legislature of the State elected him a member of its Board, and the "Senatus Academicus" of the University tendered him its honorary distinction of Doctor of Divinity, a title and distinction then but rarely bestowed, and betokening in its bestowal, much more than has been connected with it of late years. This distinction he from motives of delicacy declined and waived; but the post of duty and labor, after great and sore trial in separating himself from the beloved people of his charge, he felt constrained to accept. The people of Cambridge were devotedly attached to their pastor. To many of them he was a spiritual father, to all of them the loved man of God, their spiritual counselor and guide. For ten years he had been with them laboring for their souls' benefit and salvation. His own ardent affections had been thrown all around them; to them it was a hard trial to give up one thus endeared, and his heart, in separating from them, was torn with grief and sadness; but the duty was most clear, and the call to its discharge loud and imperative. He yielded, though in grief and sadness, telling them he must leave them, and asking them to unite in an application for the dissolution of the pastoral relation. They felt that he was right, that the call of duty was from God, and they must yield to its power. Their feelings, like his, were all adverse to the separation; but, constrained by duty, they, in the exercise of the same self-denial with which he asked, consented to the separation. A more affectionate, attached pastor, and a more attached, devoted people, were never separated, in the Providence of God. They parted in tears and with aching hearts, and for long years, the separation was keenly, painfully, felt and borne. Dr. Chapman removed to the Carolinas in 1812, and entered upon his duties as President of the University of the State. He found the state of literature low, and the pulse of piety lower still. In fact, the seat of the university itself was a moral desolation. But, with an energy for which he was remarkable, he entered upon his duties, and with the blessing of God, was soon permitted to witness a most favorable change. The college was remodeled, the classes arranged, its course of study improved. It was placed on the same basis with the most thorough institutions of learning. Princeton was made its model, and from that period a brighter day dawned upon its auspices. From that day to this, a continued prosperity has marked this institution, and it yet, on the same basis upon which it was then placed, hath performed its mission of love to that State and its adjoining borders. There was no church then at its seat; the tone of morals was low, and but little of even the form of religion was seen in all that region. The pious heart of him whose history we pen, was continually pained, but he sunk not down in despondency, but awoke heart and every energy to action; a pure gospel was preached, and its claims and precious tendencies were presented and pressed, in all faithfulness and love. God owned his truth; it reached the hearts of one and another, until the materials of a church were prepared, gathered and united, through the instrumentality of which, many sons and daughters have been gathered unto the Shepherd and Bishop of souls. The Sabbath became to the university and village, a hallowed rest. The Bible, before strangely overlooked, was made a text-book in the university; and a recitation on some portion of it every Sabbath, was made a standing rule and exercise of the institution. A number of the young men were brought under a deep and pervasive religious influence. Some of them entered the ministry and are now watchmen on the walls of Zion. Others, in different avocations and pursuits, carried into them the seeds of truth sown in prayer and with tears. In several of the States, it has been the privilege of the writer of this article to meet with those who have told him that they were indebted to the seeds of truth, then sown, for the change of purpose, heart and life, which had, subsequently, marked them. Some of these cases have occurred since the death of him whose memory this article commemorates. Doubtless, such cases occur with every faithful Christian minister. A part of the fruit of his toil, he perceives while yet on the watch-tower of duty, but a part he knows not of, until his warfare is accomplished, and his pilgrimage past; they meet him in heaven and before their Father's throne, and there he learns, for the first time, that, under God, he was the instrument of their salvation.

It was in a moral and religious aspect, especially, that Dr. Chapman was made a blessing to the University. It is now in lay hands, presided over by the Hon. David L. Swan, LL. D.; but the impress given to it by Dr. Chapman yet abides; the incense of his hallowed influence remaineth to this day. "Esto perpetua," may it long abide, blessing the youth, who there congregate, and the State under whose fostering hand it is sustained. What Dr. Chapman was to the University, he was also to the Ecclesiastical Courts. His influence therein was truly benign, deep, pervasive. He was always there with his kind heart, his watchful eye, his far-reaching vision; there with his well-stored mind, his theological astuteness, his praying heart.

Beloved of his brethren, his voice was always heeded, and his counsels always appreciated and followed. Not less was he a blessing to the State. Throughout its breadth he was known. Almost every sanctuary enjoyed more or less of his labors, and the perfume of his memory yet abideth in all the land. Fifteen years after he was entombed, a distinguished jurist of the State remarked to the writer of this article, that his memory was cherished with deep fondness, and that the seeds he had scattered were yet springing up and bearing fruit, to the praise of Divine Grace.

In the year 1815, he received the Doctorate from the time-honored Institution of Williams College, Mass. Dr. Chapman never forgot that he was a Christian minister and that his main vocation was to preach the Gospel. Though honored and useful in his position, as President of the University, his heart panted after the Church, the Society and the Pastoral relation. He longed to be wholly and exclusively employed in the great work of enlightening and saving souls?

The University had greatly prospered under his administration; the number of its pupils had more than doubled. The Board of Trustees had advanced his salary a third on the sum stipulated when he accepted of the Presidency. He had succeeded in throwing around the Institution a fine moral and religious influence, in making its discipline, parental and preventive, rather than retaliatory and vindictive, and now he felt that his work there was accomplished, and that it was his privilege to retire from its management and devote himself, exclusively, to the duties and work of the minister of Christ! The propriety of this step was duly weighed and long and prayerfully considered. At length, in the year 1817, he tendered to the Board of Trustees, his resignation, which was, at length, accepted, though on the part of many with great reluctance, and his connection with the Institution was severed. In the summer of 1817, he was called to several points of great promise holding out fine prospects for ministerial usefulness. He, at length, decided for the Valley of Virginia and became the Pastor of Bethel Church, at that time, if the writer recollects aright, the largest Church in the Synod of Virginia. Here Dr. Chapman labored four or five years with continual manifestations of the Divine presence and with the witness of the Holy Spirit on the fruitfulness of his ministrations. He then removed to the West end of the Valley, the neighborhood of Winchester, where he labored, and, in addition to his own Pastoral labors, supplied, for a time, at least, the pulpit of the Rev. Dr. Hill, then absent from Winchester, in search of health. Dr. Chapman was connected with the Synod of Virginia for some twelve years; after which he resolved on emigrating to the West. A year or two devoted to preparation was spent in the hill country of North Carolina, during which he labored, ministerially, with untiring energy. In 1829, he removed to the Mississippi Valley, settling at Covington, Tenn., some twelve miles from its banks, within the bounds of a Frontier Presbytery, where his spirit, love of order, and theological attainments, were greatly prized and made, under God, an eminent blessing to the Church of Christ, in that region. Things were greatly in their forming state and Dr. Chapman's influence was most benignant and happy. Here he labored and here he ripened for Heaven. In the Spring of 1833, he was strongly urged, by his Presbytery, to represent them in the General Assembly, at a time when dissension and sorrow were darkening the horizon of the Presbyterian Church, portending the approaching storm. His Presbytery thought, in their appreciation of Dr. Chapman's spirit, firmness and intelligence, that he was the man to represent them and urged this duty upon him. He consented, at length, little thinking, that he would no more mingle in their councils. He parted from his family and flock in the wilderness, expecting soon to return, but God had determined that they should see his face no more. Their next meeting, though they knew it not, was to be at the judgment seat of Christ. Though his step was shortening and the evidences of age thickening upon him, yet such was his uninterrupted health for twenty years or more that he had not known a sick hour. Such his buoyancy of spirit and such the energy that marked him, that none supposed it was other than a brief separation which should make his return gladsome and enhance the value of his ministrations and presence. No gray hairs mingled in his locks; his eyes were also undimmed, nor was his natural strength, vivacity or intelligence at all abated. They parted in silence and with tears, though sustained by hope and confident expectation; those hopes were all to be dashed in death; those expectations were never to be realized. Dr. Chapman in fine health accomplished the journey, performing the most of it on horseback; making it, in fact, a preaching missionary tour. He met the Assembly of the church of his Fathers, engaged in its deliberations and councils, with his usual ability and industry, and, after its adjournment, made a hasty visit to his older brother, then in the city of New York. He started for his home in the West, anticipating a blissful reunion with his affectionate family and beloved flock. At Winchester, Virginia, he was arrested by disease, and though ministered unto, assiduously, by the friends of other years, though unremittingly attended to by able and skillful physicians, it was all unavailing. Full of years and usefulness, rich in grace and good works, and ripened by their exercise and influence, he sunk in the arms of death, the 18th of June, 1833, in the sixty-third year of his age, and of his ministry, the forty-first. His end was blissful, calm as a summer's sleep and full of trust and peace. His disease was constipation of the bowels, and mortification ensued the fourth day of the attack. The cessation of pain deceived him and he thought himself relieved. He had arisen as was his wont the morning that he died, unassisted had dressed himself, and standing by an open window which his own hand had lifted; such was his strength even to the last. The sun was rising and he stood contemplating the scene, as his physician entered, and inquired as to his state. He replied that he was better and that nature and the remedies had triumphed. The doctor felt his pulse, shook his head, and replied, "Dr. Chapman, I must be candid with you: mortification has commenced and you are dying!" "Oh!" said he, "is it so?" Not a muscle moved: no trepidation followed, for in calmness he remarked to the physician, "I am ready to depart and give up my account. My trust is in the Holy and sinless, the Saviour Christ." "I should have loved," continued he, "once more to have met with the wife of my youth and to have prayed with the children whom God has given us, but if he has ordered otherwise I am content and ready to depart." He thanked the physician for his attention and solicitude, and requested the presence of Rev. Dr. Hill and Thomas Allen Tidball, Esq., his son-in-law, in whose house he was. Through the assistance of the last named gentleman he added a codicil to his will, making his wife his almoner for religious and charitable objects and committing to her trust, for this purpose, and for her personal comfort, an income of some eighteen hundred dollars during her life. He then, turning to his ministerial brother, said, "I am about to enter the eternal world, and to appear before God. We have often prayed together and labored, but my work is done. Read to me once more from the Word of God and let us once more bow before him in prayer." He was asked what portion should be read. Said he, "It is all good, but you may read the 97th Psalm." "It begins," said he, "with the words, The Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice;" after which Dr. Hill led the devotions of that chamber of death, if death it could be called. He then requested Dr. Hill to preside at his interment and to have it attended with appropriate religious services. Said he, "Preach a plain gospel sermon on the great doctrine of Justification by Faith, and the peace which it imparts;" and added, "Romans v. 1st, is an appropriate text." "And now," said he, "my friends, leave me to commune with my God and die." They waited around and at 9 o'clock A. M. he breathed his last. Not a doubt disturbed his mind, not a cloud intercepted the beamings of the Sun of Righteousness. Calm, resigned and peaceful his spirit departed and entered on its last reward. They who were present described that death chamber as the vestibule of Heaven. Thus ended the mortal life of the Rev. Robert H. Chapman. Far from home, and family, and kindred, he was called on, by the Great Master, to lay down his implements of toil and to put his armor off. For a moment nature struggled as he thought of the wife of his youth and the children whom God had given him; it was his only earthly tie. He felt solemn and serious, as one should feel who was about to stand in the presence of the King of Kings: the veils of time were parting before him; the gales of the eternal world were freshening on his spirit; and yet his mind was full of confidence, and filled with perfect peace. With his whole soul, he was trusting in Christ. Faithfully had he served God and his church in his generation, and now his warfare accomplished and his work done, what was left, but for him to hear his Saviour's voice and to hasten to his rest! Amid the friends of other days and with every want ministered unto which Christian sympathy could supply, he breathed his last, June 18, 1833. His mortal remains rest in the grave-yard of Winchester, Va. Neither wife nor children rest with them, but the noble dead are there. The dust of the Redeemed of the Lord is all around him. LeGrande resteth by his side and others. Their dust sleepeth side by side, but their spirits are before the throne. Dr. Chapman left a wife and seven children. Five others had preceded him to the spirit land. His wife survived him twelve years, exemplifying his labors of love, his pious counsels, and, at length, full of years and like a shock of corn fully ripe, she deceased at St. Louis, July 5, 1845.

A LETTER FROM MISS CAROLINE V. REYNOLDS OF QUINCY, ILL., A GRAND-DAUGHTER OF REV. JEDEDIAH CHAPMAN.

“REV. F. W. CHAPMAN:

“DEAR SIR:—If the following anecdotes of my grandfather will add anything to the interest of your forthcoming volume, they are at your disposal. I have frequently heard my mother repeat them, as she received them from the lips of her parents. Their descendants will value them, if the other branches of the family do not. My grandfather seldom spoke of his family, consequently we have no idea who our connexions are, on his side of the house, and we look with some interest for your publication. I presume you have obtained from Rev. Mr. Murray an account of his ministerial life, but, if you should want any information that I can give, I will do so with pleasure.

“He was a popular man and much beloved by all denominations. He was seized with his last illness, while in the pulpit. His last text was from 2d Tim. 4: 7: ‘I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith,’ &c. He took a very active part in the Revolutionary War. He was a firm and staunch patriot and warmly espoused the cause of his country, using all his energies in arousing his countrymen to resist and throw off the British yoke. He employed his time, somewhat, in preaching on the subject and became so obnoxious to the Royalists on account of his patriotism, that several rewards were offered for his head. A club of about forty took an oath, that they would neither eat nor sleep until he was in their power. Knowing that he was to preach in a certain place, on a specified evening, they repaired to the spot and placed themselves each side of the door for the purpose of seizing him when he came out. He knew their design, but his knowledge of it did not prevent his fulfilling his engagement. He preached one of his most thrilling and pathetic sermons. After pronouncing the benediction, he came down from the pulpit, and walked boldly through their ranks, bowing and speaking to them as he passed out. They did not make the least movement to detain him; the dignity of courage, or rather the power of the God of Freedom, restraining their angry passions.

“At another time, he was hotly pursued, by a party of British soldiers, and was almost within their grasp. At this moment, he reached the summit of a hill, when he wheeled his horse around, took off his hat, waved it in the air and gave three cheers. From this bold maneuver the soldiers supposed the American army was in sight of him and hid from their view by the hill, and acting on this supposition, turned their horses and galloped away, at full speed, leaving my grandfather to pursue his way in peace and the American army many miles in an opposite direction.

“At another time the British had their quarters in his house at Orange-dale. At night they had a supper, and after becoming merry with their wine, procured an old game-cock; setting him upon the table, they called him ‘The Rebel Preacher,’ and held a court-martial over him. After going through with the ceremonies of a trial, the sentence of decapitation was passed on him. As soon as it was pronounced, old Chanticleer clapped his wings and gave a loud crow, when an officer jumped up and with his sword cut off his head.

“My grandfather served one year as Chaplain in Washington’s army, but the date I do not know. La Fayette was a frequent visitor at his house, and when he made his last visit to this country, made many inquiries about his old friend.

Respectfully yours,

C. V. REYNOLDS.”

NOTE I.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF CAPT. ELISHA CHAPMAN. GRAND-SON OF ROBERT THE SETTLER.*

“CAPT. ELISHA CHAPMAN was born in the building now standing on the old paternal homestead, a few days after it was first occupied by his father, in the year 1740, and died in the same building aged nearly eighty-five years, never knowing any other home.

* The above sketch was furnished too late for insertion in the body of the work. It should have been included under the head of No. 2564. The title of Captain should have been there prefixed to his name, and the number of his children was twelve and not thirteen, as there stated. This error escaped the

“The materials of which the old mansion is composed as it now stands, were taken, in part, from the first house of Robert the settler, built by him in 1646. Part of the roof boards are now covered with white wash, probably put on by Robert himself or his order, and are in full view, visited yearly by many of the descendants, with increasing interest. It is used as an appendage of the farm, and sheltering most of the time, two or three families of workmen comfortably. Capt. Chapman enlisted in the old French War, as a soldier, at the age of sixteen, and served four campaigns; the second and third years as a non-commissioned officer; the fourth year as ensign; was in the colonial line of troops at the surrender and occupancy of Montreal. On the breaking out of the War of the Revolution, he visited Gen. Washington's camp near Boston, and was recommended to Governor Trumbull, for a captain's commission, which he obtained on his way home, and immediately raised a full company and joined Washington's army in New York; was with his company in the battle of Long Island, and composed part of the army which was so skillfully withdrawn from the Island, and was afterward stationed in a redoubt at the extreme south end of the city, probably near where Castle Garden now stands, and was in that position when the city was assaulted by the British army. Finding his company almost or quite deserted by the main army, which was evidently fleeing the city, and the enemy as evidently landing far up on the East River side, he, to save his company from capture, strapped his own knapsack on to one of his soldiers by the name of Ebenezer Ingham, a man of a religious turn of mind and of Herculean strength, and who volunteered to carry the pack of his captain in addition to his own, that his commander might be more at liberty to enforce discipline in the hasty retreat, which was effected in Indian file under cover of the North River shore, a broken ground until reaching the woods in the rear of the city, just in time to cover themselves from the advance of the British forces, although fired upon without harm, except the soldier carrying the packs, who was struck by a musket shot which perforated one pack and lodged in his Bible within the other. Probably this might be the last man leaving the city in that memorable retreat, who was not captured by the enemy.* They soon overtook the rear of the American army, and organizing a rear guard, which continued the retreat to Harlem, and next day to White Plains, made a successful stand, where was fought the battle known as ‘the Battle of White Plains.’

“Serving out that campaign and term of enlistment, he received a second notice of the author in reading the proof, and therefore the correction is entered here. It is also proper to state that in giving the outline sketch of his son George H. Chapman, Esq., who occupies the old homestead, it would have been more correct to have given his occupation, while in the city of Boston, as that of a wholesale dealer and importer.

* This account of the musket ball lodged in the Bible, is according to a legend preserved by the descendants of the man who carried the double pack.

commission as Captain of the Minute Men or Coast Guard, which he held as Captain of Militia or Train Bands of those days. These commissions he held through the war, in which time he was called into active service three or four times as commander of detachments of Minute Men and of Militia; once at the taking of Burgoyne; once to garrison the forts, temporarily, at New London; once at New Haven, and once to resist a detachment of the enemy threatening to land at Say-Brook. After the war he became very much of a domestic man, rearing a large family, and filling for many years, offices of trust in the town, and was a member of the legislature. He was a brave soldier, an honest man, and more than all, a consistent Christian. He died lamented by his fellow-citizens and a large circle of relatives."

SETTLEMENT OF THE ESTATE OF ELISHA CHAPMAN, FATHER OF
GEORGE H. CHAPMAN, ESQ., OF OYSTER RIVER, IN OLD SAY-BROOK.

"In the name of God, Amen. I Elisha Chapman of Saybrook, in the county of Middlesex, and state of Connecticut, being advanced in years, yet through the mercy of God, in comfortable health and of sound and disposing mind and memory, do make and ordain this my last will and Testament in manner and form following; Principally and first of all I commend my Soul to God who gave it and my Body to the earth, to be buried in a decent Christian manner, at the discretion of my Executors, fully believing that I shall receive the same again at the general Resurrection, by the mighty power of God, and humbly hoping for a happy immortality, through the merits and atonements of my Saviour and redeemer Jesus Christ;—And as to such worldly property as God hath blessed me with in this life, I give devise and dispose of the same as follows my just debts funeral charges and cost of settling my estate being first paid, out of my moveable estate, if I should leave sufficient for that purpose, if not so much of my real estate to be sold as will be sufficient to pay the remainder, and, also to erect decent grave-stones, at my grave, and, if I should not erect grave-stones at the grave of my late wife, while I live I order my Executors to do it after my decease and take the expense out of my estate, with the other expenses above mentioned. All the remainder of my estate I give bequeath and devise to my three Sons Caleb Chapman, Richard L. Chapman and George H. OBITUARY OF MRS. EMILY CHAPMAN.

As the last sheets of this work were going to the press, the author experienced a sudden and severe bereavement in the loss of an affectionate and beloved wife.

The following brief sketch of her life may not be unacceptable to those who had no personal acquaintance with her, while it will gratify a large circle of intimate friends.

Mrs. Emily Chapman, the subject of this sketch, was the eldest child of the late Mr. Henry and Mrs. Emily Hill, born at West-Brook, Conn., Dec. 31, 1809. Her mother was the youngest daughter of Lieut. Lebbeus Chapman, by his first marriage, and of the sixth generation, in the direct line, from Capt. Robert Chapman the First Settler. (See No. 2702.)

She was hopefully converted, under the ministry of the Rev. Sylvester Selden, when seventeen years of age, and united with the Congregational church, at Westbrook, on the first Sabbath in May, 1827.

She was married to the Rev. F. W. Chapman on the 6th of May, 1838, in the city of New York; Mr. Chapman being at that time Pastor of the Congregational church at Stratford. She died at South Glastenbury, of Apoplexy on the 30th of March, 1854, a little short of twenty-one years from the date of her marriage, beloved and lamented by a large circle of relatives, leaving behind her, her afflicted partner and three children, two sons and one daughter, to mourn over their irreparable loss.

She was a faithful, confiding and affectionate wife, an helpmeet indeed, sharing in all the labors and trials incident to her husband's calling, lightening his burdens, cheering a naturally desponding spirit, animating and exciting him to unwearied labors in the great work of the ministry. She was a wise and judicious counselor to her partner in scenes of perplexity, and contributed largely, to his usefulness as a minister of Christ. The stroke inflicted, by her sudden removal, would be more than he could endure but for the sustaining grace of God, and the confident belief that his loss, is her everlasting gain.

From their birth, she dedicated her children to God, watched over their spiritual interests, with sleepless vigilance, and did whatever could be accomplished, by fervent prayer, faithful instruction and a consistent Christian example, to train them for usefulness here and for blessedness hereafter. By her kind disposition and winning manners she endeared herself to all who cultivated her acquaintance. She was a welcome visitant in the sick room, and the house of mourning, as multitudes will testify, in the different communities where her husband was called to labor. She was an active and constant supporter of the female prayer-meeting, where she will be missed by the faithful few who, weekly, meet to implore the blessing of God upon the preaching of the Word, in the building up of the Church and the conversion of sinners.

Few, in a noiseless and unobtrusive manner, have accomplished more than she, in such a station, for the good of their own families and the church of God. Her record is on high. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord; Yea saith the Spirit, for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

Her remains were taken to West-Brook for interment. An impressive discourse was delivered on Sabbath the 2d of April, the day after her burial, by the Rev. William A. Hyde, pastor of the church in West-Brook, from Gen. 42, last clause of the 36th verse. "All these things are against me."

A Funeral Discourse was also delivered at South Glastenbury, on the second Sabbath of April, by Rev. James A. Smith, pastor of the church in North Glastenbury, from 1st John 3d, 2d.

“ And it doth not yet appear what we shall be ; but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is.”

*“ Asleep in Jesus ! blessed sleep !
 From which none ever wake to weep ;
 A calm and undisturbed repose,
 Unbroken by the last of foes.
 Asleep in Jesus ! Oh, how sweet,
 To be for such a slumber meet,
 With holy confidence to sing
 That death has lost its venom'd sting,
 Asleep in Jesus ! peaceful rest !
 Whose waking is supremely blest,
 No fear, no woe shall dim that hour,
 That manifests the Saviour's power.
 Asleep in Jesus ! Oh for me,
 May such a blissful refuge be ;
 Securely shall my ashes lie,
 And wait the summons from on high.”

* As this was a favorite hymn with the deceased and often on her lips, it is inserted here, as expressive of the sentiments of those who witnessed her peaceful death.
